Washington, D. C., March 31.—Despite official denials, the common understanding in the foreign diplomatic colony and American officialdom is that William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, and Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, were correctly quoted in the captured Polish official correspondence as fomenters of war on Germany.

Wm. C. Bullitt [Top.] Joseph P. Kennedy.

In the Polish official reports captured in Warsaw by the Germans Bullitt was represented as stating that America would not participate in the war at the beginning, "but we shall finish it."

Smile at Their Denials.

Intimates of Bullitt here are smiling at his own and the White House and state department denials because compared with his confidences to them regarding the Roosevelt administration's plans to overthrow the European dictatorships his utterances to the Polish diplomats constituted the soul of caution.

Likewise the account of Mr. Kennedy's undertaking to get the British government to extend cash financial aid to Poland is in keeping with the common knowledge in official Washington of the character of the ambassador's activities in London. As in the case of the censorship of American news films he engineered at the behest of the British government, those activities have been political to a noticeable degree.

Critics of Kennedy are convinced that his head was turned by invitations to dine with the king and queen and by other attentions lavished upon him by the royal family. Both Bullitt and Kennedy, it long has been recognized in Washington, represent abroad not so much the United States as President Roosevelt personally.

Parallel with Expressions.

The Bullitt utterances quoted in the captured Polish correspondence which were calculated to encourage Great Britain, France, and Poland to believe that they would have the support of the United States in war on Germany are in complete harmony with President Roosevelt's public and private expressions of opinion for more than two years. In fact, in some instances the Bullitt statements are a faithful reflection of the attitude toward the brewing European war the President was assuming at the identical time.

A matter of public comment last year was that Mr. Roosevelt up to October pursued a belligerent policy toward Germany, the implication of which was that America probably would get into the war on the side of the empires if war should come.

When war did come and he summoned congress into extraordinary session the President discovered the country was overwhelmingly against involvement in war. Then he drew in his horns and began promising to keep America out of war.

Chicago Speech Cited.

His readiness to employ the forces of the United States in conjunction with those of other nations to restrain an aggressor Mr. Roosevelt stated in his Chicago speech of Oct. 5, 1937, in which he advocated international measures analagous to the quarantining of pestilence. That was the initiation of the illfated effort of the powers inspired by Mr. Roosevelt to quarantine Japan. The powers failed to agree on an effective program, and the undertaking failed.

From time to time during the next year the President assailed the Russian, German, and Italian dictatorships. When, however, Britain and France came to the brink of war with Germany over Czecho-Slovakia Mr. Roosevelt exerted his influence with Hitler and Mussolini in behalf of peace. He addressed the two dictators like beloved brethren, and when war was averted with the Munich agreement he took credit for the

London Wants Children Home Air Raids or No

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 31.—Eighty per cent of London's mothers and fathers have ignored an official inquiry as to whether they wanted their children sent to safety areas if air raids begin, it was said today by officials of the London county council.

Today was the deadline set for answering, and the officials said it was unlikely the time limit would be extended.

Of the 241,000 children sent away last year, 140,000 have returned to London.

Discontent Grows.

Discontent with the blackout also was reported to be growing. Newspapers said that many persons believed the blackout has had a depressing effect on the population. The blackout also was said to have hurt business, impaired health and interfered with factory production.

A sitdown strike against the blackout conditions also has been reported. The Association of Women Clerks and Secretaries said that employés in one big London office went on strike when they decided they would not work under artificial light any longer.

The strike ended when the black paint was removed from the windows. The association said the employés also blamed the blackout for the high rate of illness during the last six months.

Would Study Boredom.

Dr. A. J. Brock, in an article in the British Medical Journal, recommended mobilization of psychological experts to assist "in preventing boredom on the home front."

He declared the restrictions of the blackout have produced a psychological phenomenon characteristic of people removed for long periods from normal life. He described the condition as a mild form of what was known in the last war as "barbed wire disease," or a kind of shell shock.

"Stop the War" Cry Again Interrupts London Sermon

LONDON, March 31 (AP).—A loud cry of "stop the war" was heard for the third Sunday in succession tonight during the broadcast of religious services. The sermon at the City temple of London was interrupted by a shout of "don't pray for peace; stop the war" and two men were hustled from the congregation. Previously services at St. Martin's-in-the-Field and St. Paul's were interrupted.

BURGLARS PLUNDER VAULT OF JEWELRY VALUED AT $200,000

Los Angeles, Cal., March 31 (AP).—Theft of precious stones valued at more than $200,000 and approximately $5,000 in cash from a downtown jewelry store was reported tonight by police. Detectives said they believed the store was entered this week-end by at least four men and a woman.

The woman, they asserted, evidently hid in the washroom of an adjoining shoe store and later admitted accomplices, who broke two tile partitions to enter the jewelry store. Deputy Chief Homer Cross expressed the belief that more accomplices later were admitted to the jewelry store by a sidewalk elevator.

Using oxygen and gas tanks, the burglars drilled thru the middle of the huge vault door and removed the loot, but overlooked about $40,000 worth of diamonds. The store's burglar alarm sounded about noon today.

NAVY IS REPORTED BUILDING BIGGEST PLANE IN WORLD

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—The Star said today that the navy has under construction an 84 ton flying boat expected to be the world's largest airplane and capable of flying nonstop from California to Japan and return. The craft is being built by the Glenn L. Martin company in Baltimore, Md., the paper asserted.

These specifications were given: Wing spread, 230 feet, motors developing in excess of 9,000 horsepower, a range of 12,000 miles, speed in excess of 300 miles an hour, capable of carrying a useful load of 30 tons.

Navy officials would not confirm or deny that such a plane was under construction. At Baltimore, Martin said, "We cannot comment on any phase of the preparedness program."

The army recently disclosed officially that a 70 ton bomber, designated the B-19, was nearing completion in the Douglas aircraft corporation's California plant. This craft, described as the world's largest military plane, was reported capable of a nonstop flight to Europe and return.

Pie or Dumplings? Quarrel Ends in Killing and Suicide

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 31 (AP).—An argument over whether pie or apple dumpling would be on the day's menu at the county home for tuberculosis patients led to the slaying today of Mrs. Catherine White, 42 years old, widowed mother of six children, by John McCammon, 66 years old, supervising assistant and employé of the institution for nearly 20 years. McCammon then shot himself to death.

Bus Collides with Trolley; 26 Are Hurt

Twenty-six persons on an eastbound Chicago Motor Coach company bus were injured yesterday afternoon when the bus and a southbound street car collided at Kedzie avenue and Warren boulevard. All were taken to hospitals and physicians' offices, but only five were injured seriously enough to remain.

The collision caused panic in the bus and considerable excitement in the street car. Police and firemen calmed the passengers and removed the injured in ambulances.

Crossing on Changing Lights.

Policemen William Mitchell and Fred Stanger said passengers told them both vehicles were crossing on the amber light.

Joseph Brueck of 5939 Superior street, a bus passenger, said a more serious accident would have occurred had not the bus driver swerved to the south to avoid a full impact. The driver, Frank Carney, 34 years old, of 2716 Jackson boulevard, was among those slightly injured.

Five Remaining in Hospitals.

Those still in hospitals:

Mrs. Rose Brody, 42, of 832 East Pershing road.

Mrs. Ariadne Carantinos, 50, of 4821 West End avenue.

Mrs. Iona Doane, 24, of 159 East Ontario street.

Mrs. Marie Ort, 47, of 1215 South Austin avenue, Cicero.

Franklin Boulevard hospital—

W. F. Rodger, 54, of 1247 North Central avenue.

A crowd of 1,000 persons, many of whom had been strolling a short distance away in Garfield park, watched the removal of the injured.

Aerialist Dies of Injuries Traced to Loss of Teeth

Minneapolis, Minn., March 31 (AP).—Costica Floresque, aerialist billed as "the man with the iron jaw," died today from injuries incurred Thursday when he fell 65 feet at the Municipal auditorium after he had insisted that his act must go on despite a handicap. Floresque's specialty was hanging by his teeth from a swing. Early in the week several of his teeth had to be extracted, but after two days' layoff, he returned to the show. His weakened jaws failed to hold him. He missed a safety rope and fell. Floresque's home was in Chicago, where his widow, Naomi, survives.

HORNER CLIQUE HIT ON SPECIAL SESSION CALL

Insurgents' Leader Renews Fight.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Lieut. Gov John Stelle replied yesterday to "a voice from the bedside cabinet of Gov. Horner," and it appeared probable that Stelle, Horner, or "a voice" would issue a call for a special session of the legislature. If Stelle calls it, the date may be April 8 or April 10; otherwise the date may be April 16, according to word from Springfield.

Stelle's statement did not definitely say he was ready to issue a call to the legislature to assemble. He said he was pleased to see that other leaders of both branches of the legislature agreed to the need for a call. His statement contained notice he still was fighting what in his speeches he terms Nudelmanism—the group he said surrounds and dominates Gov. Horner.

Faces Delicate Situation.

It was admitted at Stelle's headquarters yesterday that he faces a delicate situation.

He is said to realize that, under the Illinois constitution, he should act as governor during the "disability" of Gov. Horner, but that personal consideration for Horner's condition stays his hand.

It also is admitted privately that the Democratic primary April 9, at which Stelle is a candidate for nomination as governor and is being opposed by the Horner-Nudelman forces, may be a deciding factor in calling the legislature into extraordinary session.

Chronology of Statements.

SATURDAY, 5:30 p. m.—Stelle announced he had written to Speaker Hugh W. Cross of the house of representatives, a Republican, and to the majority and minority leaders of both houses, asking whether they would respond to a call for a special session.

SATURDAY, 9 p. m.—M. P. Akers, publicity representative of Gov. Horner, summoned newspaper men to the executive mansion in Springfield, where Horner has been ill for several months. A statement was handed out in the name of Horner saying that the governor was considering an announcement of a special session.

SATURDAY, 10 p. m.—All other leaders of the legislature said they would respond to a call for a special session.

SUNDAY, 3 p. m.—Stelle issued a new statement.

SUNDAY, 4 p. m.—Speaker Cross issued a statement citing the need of a special session to enact legislation to increase old age pensions. He said Horner's veto of such legislation [on Senator James M. Slattery's erroneous statement that congress would not provide funds for the increase] has worked hardships on old age pensioners.

Lashes Bedside Cabinet.

Stelle's statement was as follows:

"I am informed, thru the newspapers, that some one issued a statement last night claiming that the governor is planning to call a special session of the legislature. It was further stated that the governor was not present when the statement was issued. The statement is further proof of the fact that the bedside cabinet is still ruling.

"My attitude toward Gov. Horner has always been one of consideration because of his disability, but I have been fighting those who have usurped his power and poisoned his mind in his serious illness.

Slush Fund Action Urged.

"In addition to the subjects which I mentioned in my letters to the leaders of the legislature yesterday, I also believe that no special session would be complete which did not include measures aimed to remedy the shakedown of civil service and other employés of the state.

"The spectacle of Nudelman [S. L. Nudelman, state finance director] and his unholy crew gouging the state employés has disgusted the decent citizens of Illinois.

"The people of Illinois, both downstate and in Chicago, repudiated the Kelly-Nash machine in 1936 and in 1938, and the addition of Nudelman, Schwartz [Charles K. Schwartz, chairman of the state tax commission], and Arvey [Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], vice chairman of the Cook county Democratic central committee] to that machine has further weakened it."

PROTEST STRAWS INCREASE STELLE DOWNSTATE LEAD

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Today's tabulation of additional straw votes taken in THE TRIBUNE'S poll will be found on page 6.]

Indications that voters in both parties are aroused by the slush fund scandals at Springfield and the record of the statehouse regency are seen in today's results of THE TRIBUNE'S straw ballot.

John Stelle, insurgent candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has increased his downstate lead over Harry B. Hershey, who has the blessing of the Chicago and Springfield organizations. Stelle has 52.93 per cent of the straws outside Cook county. Hershey has 56.22 per cent of the Chicago straws and 53.09 of that in the Cook county towns. All in all, it looks like a hot finish.

Straw vote canvassers who have been downstate send back word they have traversed regions that are deeply stirred over the mess at the state capital and the shakedown of state employés to replenish campaign strongboxes.

Ahead in Downstate Cities.

Lieut. Gov. Stelle in today's poll is running ahead in Rockford, Pekin, Canton, and Elgin, in northern Illinois. Down on the river he has Quincy by a big margin. In the oil fields he is ahead in Centralia; in the mining fields of Egypt he leads in Benton, West Frankfort, Pinckneyville, Duquoin.

In nine north suburbs in Cook county shown today, it is neck and neck, Stelle getting 49.17 per cent; Hershey, 50.83. In four west suburbs in Cook, Stelle falls to 44.55 per cent.

Vice President Garner, with no campaign or organization, did well in the north suburbs, getting 13.11 per cent against 86.89 for President Roosevelt, who is backed by the Democratic organizations. Garner now has 13.43 per cent of the Democratic downstate straws; Roosevelt 86.57. In Chicago, the President has 91.17 per cent; Garner, 8.83.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney has 65.40 per cent of the country towns vote so far reported, John Gutknecht, 34.60. In Chicago, Courtney's share is 61.07 per cent.

In 29 downstate cities in today's table, Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, increased his lead over Richard J. Lyons. Green has 59.76 per cent of the straws; Lyons 40.24. Green led in all but seven of these cities.

Church Leads on Home Grounds.

Ralph Church rolled up 67.70 per cent of the straw vote in the north suburbs, his stamping ground, against Wayland Brooks, whom he is opposing for United States senator. In west suburbs Church fell to 28.38 per cent. In today's downstate votes he has 27.80 per cent; Brooks, 72.20 per cent.

Thomas E. Dewey of New York, as candidate for Republican presidential preference without opposition, increased his lead over President Roosevelt in total number of straws cast, altho, of course, they are contenders in primaries of different parties. Out of 71,321 straw votes that have been tabulated, Dewey has 32,848 Republican votes; Roosevelt, 30,847 Democratic, and Garner, 3,590 Democratic votes.

45 Per Cent Vote Republican.

As to the ratio of Republican straws to Democratic collected in Democratic Chicago: A total of 18,615 Republican straws and 22,255 Democratic have been tabulated and printed in the tables including today. That is 45.54 per cent Republican and 54.46 per cent Democratic. The Republican vote in the mayoral election a year ago was 43.7 of the total cast for Green and Mayor Kelly.

In this poll, which precedes a primary and not an election, there is no way of ascertaining whether the straw voter is qualified to vote in the primary or intends to. The Republicans may or may not cast 45 per cent of the total primary vote in Chicago, but the poll is aimed to get a cross-section of opinion, and 45 per cent of the persons invited to vote have marked for Republican candidates.

TWO PURPLE MARTINS SURVEY THE HOUSING SITUATION FOR FLOCK

If you still think spring can't really be here, you're wrong. A pair of purple martins arrived in Richton park in the southern end of the county early yesterday.

The martins came ahead of the flock to survey the housing situation, and arrived at the martin house of Anthony Fraccaro. They are said to be early, the usual scouts coming about April 7.

RELIEF CHEATING TAKES BIG TOLL IN TAX DOLLARS

Picture of Petty and Big Time Fraud.

BY HERMAN KOGAN.

A woman receiving a relief check for $20 every month is found to have income from at least three other sources.

A township relief supervisor, on the day before he stands for reelection, hands out to every reliefer a free pair of shoes along with sample ballots.

Point to Waste.

Legislative committees, citizens' groups, and even individual members of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which is the allocating agency for the 1,455 units in the state, have asserted in recent years that hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money are wasted because of cheating by reliefers or regional administrators.

One of the most glaring scandals brought out recently concerned Albert Ulrich, relief administrator in Centerville township, near East St. Louis. Last November, IERC investigators found that 36 per cent of the 466 cases in the township were not entitled to aid.

There were other things going on, too, which caused more than one IERC member to raise his eyebrows. Payments had been made for medical services which allegedly never were rendered, a dental bill of $50 was paid for with a relief voucher bearing a forgery of a reliefers' signature, and other irregularities were reported.

Indicted with 8 Others.

As a result, Ulrich and eight other persons were indicted by a St. Clair county grand jury on charges ranging from conspiracy to falsifying relief records. Among the co-defendants were Ulrich's two sisters, Mrs. Louise Ulrich Reiff and Miss Josephine Ulrich—both relief staff members—Dr. Walter Boyen, former St. Clair county coroner, and several relief office employés.

Ulrich's attorney was Fred E. Merrills, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, and a political ally of Louis Zerweck, St. Clair county state's attorney. Merrills charged that the accusations against Ulrich were baseless and that he was being persecuted for political reasons.

Despite this explanation, Circuit Judge Maurice V. Joyce last month sentenced Ulrich and his sisters to serve one to seven years in prison for falsifying relief records. They are at liberty pending an appeal to the state Supreme court. The others are to be tried later.

Another Scandal in Freeport.

Much of the work in the Ulrich case was done by members of the staff of Attorney General Cassidy and the IERC investigators. It is stated authoritatively that in at least two other cases, evidence of fraud by relief supervisors in other sections of the state has been turned over to Cassidy by the IERC.

Another recent scandal occurred in Freeport. It involves Dr. James A. Poling, 70 years old, district health officer, Dr. Karl B. Rieger, and Relief Supervisor Fred H. Reither.

They were indicted last month on charges that Reither had issued vouchers to the two physicians allegedly for medical care given reliefers when the care never was administered nor were the persons named in the vouchers on relief. Reiter and Dr. Poling were accused of obtaining $286 by this method, and Dr. Rieger $142. The three have pleaded not guilty and are at liberty on bond. Their trial will be heard in May.

IERC Withholds Funds.

Each month during the last few years the IERC has withheld funds from some of its units because of graft, fraud, or lack of proper administration. The commission is permitted to do this under state law.

Summaries of some of the more flagrant cases falling under one or more of these types follow:

DORR TOWNSHIP, McHENRY COUNTY: Recent inquiry by Raymond M. Hilliard, head of the IERC fraud investigation department, disclosed that 90 per cent of medical business for the township's 500 relievers had been given during the last two years to a Woodstock physician. The fees amounted to $6,473 in 1938 and $7,251 in 1939.

Deny Getting Medical Care.

Several of the relief cases listed as receiving medical care told Hilliard no such care was given them. Roy Stewart, township relief supervisor, thru whom the payments were made, appeared before the IERC recently and denied any intent to defraud. The case is still under advisement, but all evidence has been given to William M. Carroll, McHenry county state's attorney, in late February and to Cassidy's office.

BREMEN TOWNSHIP, COOK COUNTY: One day a gasoline soaked torch was flung into the records room of the township relief office at 147th street and Cleveland avenue. Subsequent investigation showed that [1] out of 36 relief cases checked, 11 were fraudulent, [2] James Bennette, auditor in the office, was a bigamist and had disappeared, and that [3] Eugene Brown, colored, and an investigator, and Bennette were charged with running a racket in which relief disbursement orders were sold at a profit of 25 per cent. Brown is now under arrest. Bennette is still being sought.

ALEXANDER COUNTY: The status of relief administration here has been in a muddle for at least two and a half years. It began in October, 1937, when it was revealed that 429 of the 1,240 relief cases had no right to receive aid. The relief administrator, George Piper, resigned. A nonpolitical citizens' committee was named by the county chamber of commerce to cooperate with the IERC and county board in administering relief.

Constant Wrangling Develops.

Constant wrangling then developed. Relief administrators named by the citizens' committee were turned down by the county board. Those selected by the county board—in one case, an aged man long retired from active business life—failed to win approval of the IERC or citizens' group. It was in this county, incidentally, that one of the temporary supervisors parceled out free shoes. Because of the inadequate administration, the IERC held back $12,036 in February and $12,136 in March. No allocation was even estimated for the current month because it is impossible, according to IERC officials, to determine present needs.

BOWLESVILLE TOWNSHIP, GALLATIN COUNTY—Henry Barnard, relief head, was reported missing last April [1939] when evidence was uncovered of fraudulent payments and graft. Later he was found on the state penal farm serving three months for adultery. His daughter, Mrs. Thelma Vovinet, was acting as relief administrator.

Funds Held Up.

Several persons listed as having received relief checks said they were not on relief. Another charge was that Barnard had given a relief check to a filling station owner to pay a personal debt. The IERC held up funds till Barnard resigned.

CHARLESTON TOWNSHIP, COLES COUNTY: In March, 1939, a survey showed that half of the 121 relief cases should be dropped. It was also revealed that Charles Crowder, the relief supervisor, had his wife and brother on the pay roll as investigators at $90 a month and that Crowder's sister and sister-in-law were on the relief rolls. Crowder has appeared before the IERC several times when the commission withheld funds. A February allotment of $4,540 for 750 clients was held back because Crowder is reported to be interfering with efficient relief administration. Last month, after Crowder made a detailed report to the IERC an allocation of $4,216 was released.

CHICAGO: Relief administration records disclose innumerable examples of the pettiest forms of cheating by reliefers—and, especially in the early days of the dole in the city, by relief officials and employés.

Prior to 1936, when the CRA was organized, the IERC undertook prosecution of relief cheaters. Following an intensive campaign by THE TRIBUNE in 1932 and 1933 to ferret out relief frauds in the city, sentences began to be imposed.

Among those subsequently convicted of cheating was a bartender who was getting relief altho his wife had $1,725 in a bank, a valet in a loop hotel who defrauded the commission of $150, a machine shop owner who swore he was a pauper and was put on the relief rolls, and a father and daughter who became reliefers altho they were the beneficiaries of a $12,000 estate.

One of the most scandalous of graft cases involving relief employés developed in March, 1934. While scouring the records for irregularities, investigators found that Martin A. Anklan, first assistant accountant for the IERC in Cook county, had aided in defrauding the state of about $15,000 by forging and cashing food, clothing, and coal orders. He and Frank Scaglione, a grocer at 3531 Harrison street, later were jailed, Anklan to one year in the Bridewell and Scaglione to one to five years in the penitentiary.

Three Involved in Scheme.

They were accused of obtaining $2,727 fraudulently thru a system by which grocery orders made out to exreliefers were put thru Mrs. Bartuska's store. She received payment for the orders and split the proceeds with the two others. Gillman and Mertz were sent to the Bridewell for a year and fined $500 each. Mrs. Bartuska went to the Bridewell for six months.

Such offenses by CRA employés practically came to a halt in the fall of 1935 when the disbursing order system was replaced by the practice of giving reliefers checks each month. Most of the current offenses by employés are comparatively minor.

Records compiled yesterday by Charles Bond, IERC director of business service, showed that of 8,803 claims totaling $1,071,572 in the state since 1932, about $311,655 has been collected. In Chicago, since 1936, $51,286 of $429,457 worth of claims has been collected.

Charges Filed Against 739.

Records of the CRA investigation department, also headed by Hilliard, show that since the establishment of the CRA in 1936 criminal charges have been filed against 739 cases. The following table shows the disposition of these:

Guilty	380
Not guilty	18
Nolle prossed	21
Dismissed [with restitution]	56
Dismissed	21
Unable to find	6
Pending	237

Of the complaints received regarding cheating by clients, about 46 per cent prove to have evidence of fraud, according to Hilliard.

TEN IN GANG CONFESS DOZEN ROBBERIES AND THEFT OF 18 AUTOS

Ten young auto thieves who confessed stealing 18 cars, stripping scores of others, and committing a dozen robberies were arrested yesterday by Lawndale police. Several other members of the gang were being sought.

The gang's activities were discovered as a result of a $50 robbery Friday in a printing plant at 2215 South Christiana avenue. Police believed the holdup had been planned with inside help and arrested Adam Smagacz, 20 years old, of 1907 South Christiana avenue. He confessed and named his associates.

Accused as leaders of the gang with Smagacz are Edward Plesniak, 19, of 2632 Cermiak road, and Mitchell Kulwiak, 21, 2308 Cullerton street, both of whom have served Bridewell terms, and Joseph Wojik, 22, of 2214 19th street. Kulwiak has served three Bridewell terms for burglary and petty larceny.

DEWEY RETURNS EAST AFTER TOUR THRU WISCONSIN

Confident of Success in Vote Test Tomorrow.

Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and Mrs. Dewey left Chicago for the east yesterday. Dewey, who won fame as a racket busting New York district attorney, has just completed a 900 mile tour of Wisconsin, where his backers are confident he will make a good showing in the primary election tomorrow.

Dewey and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan are in a battle for control of Wisconsin's 24 delegates to the Republican national convention. The Vandenberg slate in Wisconsin is said to be strong, and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, another Republican presidential candidate, is reported to have joined his strength to that of the Michigan senator in an effort to beat Dewey.

Go to Church in City.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Reid and their daughter, Courtney Ann Reid, attended services yesterday in St. Paul's Episcopal church, 50th street and Dorchester avenue. After services autograph hunters surrounded Dewey, who smilingly signed their books. Reid, who is Dewey's cousin and Illinois campaign manager, lives at 4810 Ellis avenue.

Reid, in a statement yesterday on Dewey's trip thru Illinois, said:

"Mr. Dewey, a product of a small, midwestern town, is winning the cities as well as the country districts. The huge rally in Chicago, where he spoke to nearly 25,000 persons, and the station crowds totaling approximately 10,000 that gathered to meet him at various points en route to Chicago from St. Louis, clearly prove his state-wide popularity.

Factions Brought Together.

"He brought all factions of the party together in one of the greatest harmony gatherings Republicans have ever held. The welcome to him clearly indicates that he is the man Illinois Republicans want for the presidency."

Ends His Life and Leaves $100 to Dies Committee

Los Angeles, Cal., March 31 (AP).—Victor Joseph Desbains, 35 years old, an A. F. of L. union truck driver who was found drowned yesterday, left two notes. One read: "I am tired of life and have decided to take a permanent bath." The other, accompanied by a $100 check and addressed to "Mr. Dies of the Dies comity of the un-American activities," said in part: "I wish you would accept this check as a gift to said comity to help carry on this fine work for the benefit of our flag and nation, country and our democracy."

KEY TO WISCONSIN PRIMARY IS HELD BY PROGRESSIVES

Believed Planning Coup to Recapture State.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., March 31.—The La Follettes' Progressive party continues, right up to the eve of the election, to be the mystery of Tuesday's presidential primary.

The Progressives, with 200,000 to 300,000 votes, have the strength to win for any candidate to whom they might throw their undivided support, but neither Phil La Follette nor his brother, Senator Robert La Follette, have indicated in any public way that they are interested in the success of one candidate more than in another.

Former Congressman Gerald J. Boileau, in a speech at Wausau last week, advised the Progressives to support the Roosevelt-Farley delegate slate backed by Charles E. Broughton, Democratic national committeeman, but Jack Kyle of Whitewater, Progressive state chairman, made haste to announce that Boileau spoke only for himself.

No Hint Uncovered.

If there has been any secret word passed among members of the party to support any slate of delegates, no one has been able to uncover it.

The assumption has been that the La Follettes favored Broughton's Roosevelt slate as the official New Deal slate, but Senator La Follette put himself so squarely on record against a third term in his senate resolution in 1928 that he cannot openly support Roosevelt now without a complete abandonment of consistency.

The Garner campaigners have not spared Senator La Follette's feelings on his third term resolution, but in daily speeches all over the state have pinned him down to the 1928 record when he condemned the third term for all time.

Heavy Vote Forecast.

A heated municipal campaign in Milwaukee is expected to bring out a maximum vote.

Daniel Hoan, Socialist mayor for 24 years, is opposed by Carl F. Zeidler, who resigned as assistant city attorney to make the race.

The Socialist Farmer Labor candidates have made most of their campaign an attack on Gov. Julius P. Heil and the Republican party in the state rather than against candidates for local office. The city election is nonpartisan and neither the Republican nor Democratic organization takes any part in it.

Bringing Heil and state politics into the local compaign has given rise to forecasts that it means the Progressives are getting ready for a fight to regain their offices next fall. It has started conjecture that the Socialist speakers are paving the way for Philip La Follette to try again for governor.

The Vandenberg for President delegates are basing their hopes for substantial support from Progressives on the amicable personal relations that exist in Washington between Senators La Follette and Vandenberg. If there is any group partiality for Senator Vandenberg among the Progressives, it has been concealed as completely as the Progressive intentions toward the Roosevelt slate.

The general impression thru the state is that Thomas E. Dewey improved his chances of winning a majority of delegates by his two day whirlwind tour of Wisconsin, which ended yesterday.

Claim Labor Backing.

The general belief is that the 24 Republican delegates will be divided between the Vandenberg and Dewey slates, with the personal history and popularity of the delegate candidates having as much weight as the presidential candidate himself.

The Keller-Curry rival Roosevelt slate claims it will have the support of most of organized labor. Edward P. Curry said today that Frank Clark, president of the Laborers' Council of Milwaukee, and Jack Warner, head of the Theatrical Stage Employés' union, have repudiated a statement which had them indorsing the Roosevelt-Farley slate.

The Garner committee's appeal to Republicans to help stop Roosevelt by voting for Garner in the primary caused P. J. E. Wood, Republican national committeeman, and F. L. Gullickson, state Republican chairman, to issue a statement today urging Republicans to stay in their own party primary.

"That is the way to lick the New Deal," the statement said.

HOPKINS ADMONISHES CENSUS TAKERS TO BE PATIENT AND POLITE

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins cautioned the 120,000 census takers tonight that the count which begins Tuesday "is not an inquisition."

In a statement sent to all offices, to be posted on a buletin board, Hopkins wrote that the census "is a cooperative enterprise of a free people for the common welfare" intended to present a "thoro, accurate picture" of changes in the nation's economy in the last decade.

"You will meet people who have been misinformed, who are confused," the statement said. "Give them the true facts. Be polite and patient; show your credentials willingly. Remember always that in three generations the census rarely has been forced to use any stronger authority than a sincere and straightforward appeal to the citizen to give his government the facts."

Trapped on Ice Floe, Four Leap Cracks to Safety

STONEY POINT, Ont., March 31 (AP).—Trapped on an ice floe five miles off shore, four persons escaped drowning in Lake St. Clair early tonight by a perilous return to shore. The four, Clayton Steele and Walter Rickman of Detroit and Hector Couture and his brother Paul of Stoney Point, made their way ashore by leaping across widening cracks.

REGULAR SLATE TIES CAMPAIGN TO 3D TERM DRIVE

BY PARKE BROWN.

Harry B. Hershey, candidate for governor, keynoted for the final week of the campaign in behalf of the Democratic regular organization ticket yesterday with a 100 per cent declaration for Roosevelt and a third term.

Hershey delivered the first of a series of five radio talks he will make this week on a program that includes a total of nine speeches from Chicago stations. The other speakers will be Senator James M. Slattery, who is to talk twice, Senator Scott W. Lucas, who will speak Wednesday night, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly, who is scheduled for Thursday night.

A Call to Support Roosevelt.

Taken as a whole, it is said, these nine talks will represent the supreme appeal of the campaign for votes for the regulars. And it was reported that Hershey's first talk was indicative of the tenor of the entire series—a systematic call to Democratic voters to support the President. No big massmeetings have been arranged. Radio will be relied on to get the message across.

Hershey said he wanted no doubt about his own attitude toward Roosevelt.

"That there may be no misunderstanding of my own motives, and no misinterpretation of my program for Illinois," he said, "allow me to say with all the candor I possess that I rejoice in the popular association of my candidacy with the national party leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Urges a Third Term.

"I approve most heartily all that he has done in line with our party's philosophy of the greatest good for the greatest number, and I say to you sincerely that maintenance of government with a heart in it shall be my unshakable aim when I have been elected to the highest office within the gift of the people of Illinois.

"I am, furthermore, enlisted in the movement to draft President Roosevelt as a candidate to succeed himself. I have scanned the horizon, studied the qualifications of the men of both parties who have been put forward as potential occupants of the White House for the next four years, and I am convinced that none of them compares in the stature of statesmanship with the great humanitarian and gallant leader whose progressive administration fathered the rebirth of this nation.

Asks Unanimous Acclaim.

"With the great mayor of Chicago, Edward J. Kelly, who is deserving of the accolade, 'No. 1 Roosevelt man in America,' I believe that President Roosevelt will consent to become a candidate if we, the voters of this pivotal state of Illinois, prove by our unanimous acclaim for him in the preferential primary next April 9 that we want him to carry on for peace and progress and prosperity."

Hershey declared his confidence that he will win the Democratic governorship fight.

"In my mind," he said, "there is not the slightest doubt about the result. I am going to be nominated for governor by the Democratic and independent voters both in Chicago and downstate by an overwhelming majority."

1,743 ATTORNEYS BACK BARRETT IN G. O. P. RACE

Organization of the state-wide committee of 1,743 lawyers to support George F. Barrett, Republican candidate for attorney general, was announced yesterday from Barrett's headquarters.

The announcement included the names of some of the leaders in the movement. Among Chicagoans named were Prof. Edwin F. Albertsworth of Northwestern university law school, Albert E. Jenner Jr., secretary of the Chicago Bar association, Dwight S. Bobb, Donald Hatmaker, Vernon Loucks, and Albert J. Meserow.

The downstate list included Probate Judge Fred R. Adams of Joliet, State Representative Reed F. Cutler of Lewistown, R. M. Everett of Galena, Robert M. Egan of Galesburg, John G. Whiton of Freeport, and C. E. Tate of Champaign.

FIGHT VOTE THEFT BY MOBILIZING POLLS WATCHERS

Democratic Insurgents Pledge Vigilance.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Thousands of poll watchers are being mobilized from civic and veterans' organizations to prevent vote thefts by the regular Democratic organization in the April 9 primary, Benjamin S. Adamowski, rebel candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, asserted yesterday. Adamowski said his insurgent group would send watchers into every one of the city's 3,648 precincts where there might be the slightest suspicion of fraud. He predicted that a clean election would result.

Adamowski's announcement came as he and his colleagues, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, candidate for governor, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, seeking reelection, attacked the Kelly-Nash organization at a Will county rally in the Chamber of Commerce building at Joliet and at a rally in the Lake county courthouse in Waukegan.

Thousands of Offers Received.

"The Kelly-Nash machine has often succeeded in obtaining thousands of fraudulent votes for its candidates," Adamowski said. "That will not happen this time. Our group has thousands of offers from civic organizations, clubs, veterans' groups, and nonpartisan societies, seeking to act as watchers at the polls.

"We are going to take advantage of these offers.

"The opposition is already panic stricken. Their candidates are now hoping that the machine will deliver sufficient votes to pull them thru. Their hopes in this direction will be sadly found wanting, since there will be very few fraudulent votes in any ward in Chicago.

Tells of Jarecki's Support.

"We have had the additional assurance from my good friend, Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the county court, that he and the board of election commissioners are using every effort to prevent the casting of even one fraudulent vote, and Judge Jarecki has assured me that any of our watchers will be given proper credentials from his office so their authority cannot be disputed."

Stelle attacked the slush fund activities of the Springfield organization, which, he said, were in direct violation of the civil service laws.

"The Nudelman clique is still collecting slush funds from the state employés and forcing these employés to engage in political activity," Stelle said. "Some of these employés are under civil service, and it is a direct violation of the civil service law for such employés to engage in political activity. Yet it is being done.

"In addition, I understand the bosses are forcing state employés to refrain from going home to vote in the good old American way. They are being forced to vote by absentee ballot. This makes it easier for the bosses to check up on how they vote."

Barrett accused bosses in the Democratic party of forcing his name off the regular ticket despite good service in office. "They didn't want me because I wouldn't do business with them to the detriment of the state," he declared. "I am asking the people to support me against the bosses and their schemes. There is no question in my mind but that they will be repudiated."

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE CO.

SLATTERY FACES STATE'S VOTERS FOR FIRST TIME

Senator Owes Many Posts to Appointments.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

United States Senator James M. Slattery, a veteran of 24 years in political jobs, is facing the Illinois electorate for the first time as he seeks the Democratic nomination for United States senator in the April 9 primary.

Senator Slattery.

He has held numerous political appointments. He has placed himself before Cook county voters on four occasions and was defeated each time.

Slattery's rise in recent years has been closely tied to the political fortunes of Gov. Horner, his long time friend. Horner gave Slattery his four big jobs; attorney for the Lincoln park board, attorney for the Chicago Park district, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and United States senator.

Worker for Horner.

Slattery directed Horner's successful fight against the Kelly-Nash organization in 1936, and in 1939 helped to effect a reconciliation by supporting Mayor Kelly for reëlection. He has support in the present campaign of both the Horner and Kelly-Nash groups.

Slattery was born July 24, 1878. His parents, John and Catherine Healy Slattery, were born in Ireland.

He was graduated from All Saints Parochial school in 1893. Four years later he was graduated from St. Ignatius college. His first full time job was as clerk for the Erie railroad.

He married Mamie Alice Beevers, now deceased, in 1902, and three years later placed first in a civil service examination, winning his first appointment—secretary to the Chicago building department under Mayor Edward F. Dunne. While in this position he began studying law in the Illinois College of Law. He was graduated in 1908.

Defeated in Court Race.

In 1910 he was appointed superintendent of public service for the Cook county board, headed by the late Peter Bartzen. In this job he became a friend of Henry Horner, who then was attorney for the board of assessors.

In 1912, after running unsuccessfully for Municipal court judge, Slattery was named assistant attorney of the Chicago Sanitary district. He also opened a law office, occupying space with John F. Bolton, now a judge of the Superior court. Horner, meanwhile, was elected judge of the Probate court in 1914.

Slattery continued in his sanitary district job until 1920. He ran for the legislature once during this period, but was not nominated. He again had a brief fling at politics in 1921, when he ran unsuccessfully for ward committeeman in the 25th ward, and in 1922, when he was defeated for nomination as a member of the board of review. From then until 1932 he devoted himself to his law practice.

Named Park Board Attorney.

In 1932 Horner became a candidate for governor and Slattery toured downstate in Horner's behalf both in the primary and fall elections. Horner was elected governor, and for his services Slattery was appointed attorney for the Lincoln park board in 1933. When the park districts were consolidated in 1934, Slattery became attorney for the new park district.

Slattery's opportunity to enter bigger fields came in 1936, when Horner was denied a place on the Kelly-Nash ticket and began his rebel campaign for the nomination. He drafted Slattery for the job of defeating the Cook county organization. Slattery organized so effectively that the Cook county majority of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, regular organization candidate, was wiped out by the downstate vote for Horner. Gov. Horner rewarded Slattery by naming him chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

After Senator James Hamilton Lewis died April 9, 1939, Horner named Slattery to fill out his term.

Strong Box Revealed.

Soon after he had taken office there were reports in Chicago that his commerce commission tenure was under investigation. The scandal involved a strong box and dealings in $25,000 of Commonwealth Edison stock. Slattery said the charge was a political move to besmirch his name.

The charge concerned the purchase of $25,000 in stock of the Commonwealth Edison company by Slattery's daughter, Mrs. Norbert J. Johnson, with currency which he said he gave her and two other daughters.

The money was kept in Senator Slattery's safe deposit box, according to Mrs. Johnson. The stocks later were sold at a profit of approximately $2,000.

Admits Knowing of Deals.

Senator Slattery admitted he knew of the stock deals and said the transactions in no wise affected his rulings as chairman of the commerce commission.

Senator Slattery is campaigning on an issue of his support of President Roosevelt. He asks the voters to insist on a third term for Roosevelt, and to return him to the senate for further support of New Deal legislation.

The senator and his second wife, the former Miss Ruth Anderson of Evanston, live at 1522 Farwell avenue. Slattery's favorite recreation is baseball—as a spectator, not a player. He is fond of golf and of books on historical subjects.

Killed by Gas

Barbara Honeycutt, 14 months old, and brother Stanley, 3 years, who were asphyxiated with mother yesterday in home at 2360 Dickens avenue.

Mrs. Angelina Honeycutt, 30 years old, and her two children, Stanley, 3, and Barbara, 14 months, were asphyxiated yesterday when a defective hot water heater flue which prevented escape of carbon monoxide wastes from the heater flooded their three room apartment at 2360 Dickens avenue with the gas.

The mother was found in the bathroom, where she was washing some clothing. The children were in bed. Ollie Karwoski, investigator for the coroner's office, and gas company officials found that the pipe from the gas heater had been jammed against the rear wall of the chimney, so that the carbon monoxide gas backed up into the apartment.

Col. A. L. Brodie, coroner, ordered the pipe detached and brought to the inquest today.

HOME ENTERED AND ROBBED.

Police are searching for thieves who late Saturday night broke into the home of Eli Christiansen, 209 West 72d street, a railroad architect, and stole clothing and jewelry value at $407.

YOUR SILHOUETTE

Narrow describes the new silhouette. Slimmer your suit skirts; lower arrives the fullness even of your dinner clothes; bloused tops to accentuate a narrower coat skirt. Important now, but more important as a forecast. Scores of devices to lengthen the torso lines.

YOUR CORSET

Fashion's most important device to give lovelier lines to your body. Light in weight, gentle in control, your 1940 foundation aims at better carriage, long curves and supple defining of your waistline as a basis for this narrower look.

COLOR

All the blues from the inky depths of Field's own Indigo to the intensity of Schiaparelli's own Sleeping Blue (spotted by Field's as early as last Fall). Bold black and white has the greatest importance, often sharpened by Life Red. Hearty approval for Balenciaga's Biscuit Brown.

GENEROUS ACCESSORIES

So-o big! Large, commodious bags—almost startling in size. Longer gloves. All made to appear more generous in any of the bright colors of the primary range—Kelly green, red, chrome yellow, royal blue. Wear lots of bracelets. Go for pocket pieces and lapel whimsies.

YOUR HAT

Let it be large or let it be tiny. Bold Bretons, swooping brims, long quills thrust through crowns. Wear a pale hat with dark cocktail clothes. Have a tiny hat staggering under fruit or flowers. If you are very young (and your nose is pert), wear a calot that hugs your head.

YOUR HAIR

Always sweep it up from your ears, no matter how you arrange the back. Try it low on your neck, with a school-day barrette holding it secure. Try the front in a soft pompadour, or fluff it high with brushed curls. Be sure it has a well-brushed look and flatters you.

YOUR SHOES

Wear wedgies with your town suit, your country clothes or your gala evening clothes. Choose shoes with brightly colored pipings. Have a pair of antique buffed shoes with the patina of polished saddle leather. Be sure to include dark linens and cottons in your collection.

SPRING PRINTS

Polka dots, stripes, all the old established geometrics, softly tailored with an easy flare that fits between your narrow fashions and your hoydenishly full country clothes. Choose one with a cape, a long torso jacket or a bolero, or with its own dark full-length ensemble coat.

AT HOME

Trouser fashions lead for excitement . . . narrowed flatteringly. Have an open midriff (a tiny snug jacket and flaring skirt). Choose an outfit in Sleeping Blue and wear plaster-white jewelry. Have a rustling taffeta. Here is one of the few occasions that permits you to indulge in the very picturesque and the very colorful.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Lovely Lady, greet the Spring!

You'll dance under a Spring moon in the most glorified cotton dance dresses, entertain at little dinners wearing trousers as narrow as Sarah Bernhardt's in a fabulous era.

To keep pace with your moods and guide you along the way charted by French and American experts, Marshall Field's gives you this résumé of Spring 1940.

PREDICT 159,000 LYONS MAJORITY IN COOK COUNTY

Campaign Manager Tells of Vote Canvass.

Ald. Patrick Sheridan Smith [6th], manager of the Cook county campaign of Richard J. Lyons and Wayland Brooks for the Republican nominations for governor and United States senator, respectively, issued a statement yesterday saying interviews with 211,000 voters show that Lyons will carry Cook county with a majority of at least 159,000 votes in the primary April 9. The nomination of Brooks, they claim, will be in a landslide, he said.

Smith said his figures were based on the most comprehensive sampling of votes ever accomplished here. More than 4,000 precinct captains made personal calls on voters and learned of the Brooks-Lyons sentiment, he said. The figures indicate a likely Republican vote of 438,000 in Cook county in the primary, Smith said, with 298,500 going to Lyons, or a majority of 159,000.

Canvass Termed Accurate.

"The canvass was accurate," Smith declared, "because of the great number of voters interviewed and because canvassers did not tally a vote until they had ascertained that the voter actually was eligible to vote in the Republican primary.

"The open assistance given by Kelly-Nash Democrats to Mr. Lyons' opponent has made it clear the Democrats are trying to keep Lyons from being nominated, because they know he is the man who will beat them in November. These machine Democrats know that Lyons has no Kelly-Nash affiliations or utility connections which will soften his blows in the fall."

Lyons spoke at three meetings yesterday afternoon—in the 2d ward at the Wendell Phillips High school, at a Lithuanian meeting in the Kelly High school, Calumet and 42 street, and at a Greek meeting in the Louis XVI. room in the Hotel Sherman. Brooks received numerous delegations and prepared for a series of radio speeches.

Brooks to Address Nation.

The highlight of the final week of Brooks' campaign will be Thursday at 8:30 p. m. when he will speak to the nation over a coast to coast radio chain on "The Republican Party's Contribution to the March of Liberty in America."

Brooks will be guest speaker at the 100th anniversary of the oldest Republican club in Ohio, the Tippecanoe club of Cleveland, which made history with the slogan: "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too."

Other speakers at the Cleveland meeting will be United States Senator Robert A. Taft, a candidate for the presidential nomination, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Brooks-Lyons supporters thruout Illinois have arranged listening parties for Thursday night. Word was received that at least 200 of these groups will listen to the speech, Brooks' partisans said.

CROMWELL WILL SPEAK AGAIN IN CANADA TONIGHT

OTTAWA, March 31.—James H. R. Cromwell, the American minister, who since his arrival here has been much in demand as a speaker at Canadian functions, is to make a second speech in Toronto tomorrow night. He will address the annual dinner of the Old Boys association of the University of Toronto schools on the topic, "Education for Democracy."

It is doubted, however, that there will be in the speech any such explosive material as brought upon him a rebuke from the state department for his last Toronto address. In that speech, Cromwell praised the war aims of Britain and France and criticized Germany.

One result of Cromwell's last speech has been a tremendous increase in his mail. The flood of letters has contained both praise and criticism for his pro-empire utterance.

GREEN WILL WIN 240,000 MARGIN, SAYS MANAGER

Biggest G. O. P. Vote in Decade Sought.

The prediction that Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for nomination as governor, will carry the primary by 240,000 votes was made yesterday by Deneen Watson, state manager of the Green campaign.

"Last minute moves on the part of our opponents to blacken the name of our candidate or belittle the supporters who have rallied to his cause are confessions that they have nothing to offer the people in the way of a constructive candidate, and that their cause is lost," said Watson.

Labor Backing Cited.

"With the official indorsement of labor, support from social and civic minded citizens such as Miss Harriet Vittum, Frank Loesch, William Knight, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, and Mrs. Frederic Upham, and the unqualified backing of recognized service and women's organizations, it is little wonder that the man who prosecuted many noted gangsters and later established a national reputation as a gangbuster should have won the confidence and support of people in every corner of the state.

"Dwight Green has demonstrated his ability and integrity. He represents the highest type of candidate that the Republican party has presented to the citizens in many years.

Seek to Pile Up Votes.

"We are confident he will carry the state by at least 240,000 votes. With victory assured and the campaign developing into a band wagon movement, we are setting out in this last week before the primary to pile up the biggest Republican vote in a decade. This will rally Republican forces for a victorious assault on the Democratic machine so that Republican success in November will be assured."

Green will speak on seven occasions today, one of them a radio talk at 8 p. m. over WENR and a statewide hookup of 17 stations to be given in the South Chicago Masonic temple. He will attend a reception given by Frank J. Loesch at 2 p. m. today in the Drake hotel. Green spoke yesterday at four daytime meetings and an evening rally in the Legion hall, Waukegan.

CHURCH RETURNS TO CAPITAL AFTER CAMPAIGN VISIT

Congressman Ralph E. Church of Evanston, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, returned to Washington, D. C., yesterday after a hurried trip here in the interests of his campaign.

Church has been commuting between Chicago and Washington to preserve his record of never having missed a session of congress.

He is expected to return to Chicago Thursday for further conferences with campaign workers. He said Saturday that his support was growing both in Chicago and outside the city.

JUSTUS JOHNSON PREDICTS G. O. P. BALLOT UPSWING

18 Per Cent Gain Expected Over 1936 Primary.

Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, Republican candidate for secretary of state, who in various party offices has earned a reputation as a political forecaster, made his prediction yesterday of the 1940 G. O. P. primary vote. He said it will be 18.3 per cent greater than the last comparable vote, which was in the presidential year primary of 1936.

The total estimated by Johnson is 1,275,000, compared with 1,077,295 in 1936. He said downstate counties will cast 760,000 Republican ballots, or 20 per cent more than four years ago. Chicago G. O. P. votes should reach 400,000, for a 15 per cent increase, while the country towns of Cook county should account for 115,000 votes, up 20 per cent, according to Johnson.

Claims Downstate Strength.

Johnson claims unusual strength downstate, partly on the ground he is the only candidate for a major state office from the heavily populated and predominantly Republican northern Illinois areas. In 1938 he was elected clerk of the Appellate court for this district, which includes 32 counties, by a majority of 134,000 votes.

Charles J. Fleck, Johnson's campaign manager, said his support has sources in both the Brooks-Lyons and Dwight H. Green camps. He said Johnson has most of the regular G. O. P. ward organizations marking ballots for him in Chicago and organizations functioning for him in the country townships.

All but three of the 25 members of the G. O. P. state central committee are supporting Johnson and he has groups operating in his behalf in every one of the downstate counties, Fleck said.

District Workers Active.

"We also have a field supervisor looking after his interests in each congressional district," said Fleck, "and a special manager in each of the larger downstate cities."

In his long active political career Johnson has been with the state central committee in eleven campaigns, as state chairman, treasurer, secretary, chairman of the executive committee, of organization, of speakers, and now as chairman of public relations.

He also is known as a past president of the Circuit Clerks' and Recorders' association, and of the John Ericcson Republican League of Illinois. He was assistant secretary of the Republican national convention that nominated Calvin Coolidge for President.

Johnson has been a farmhand, a helper in a machine shop, a store clerk, a school teacher, a newspaper editor, a lawyer, and a business man.

More Returns in Tribune Poll of Illinois Primary Voters

Below are additional suburban and downstate tabulations in the Republican and Democratic columns of the straw vote being taken by THE TRIBUNE on the principal candidates in the Illinois primaries of April 9. Besides the presidential preference tests the candidates being canvassed are those for governor, United States senator, and [in Cook county] state's attorney.

Girl Killed by Car; Father Pleads Leniency for Driver

Herrin, Ill., March 31 [Special].—Alberta Ray, 7 years old, was killed by an automobile today as she returned to Sunday school at Pentecost church in Bush after crossing the street to buy a balloon. A few hours later her father pleaded with a coroner's jury to be lenient with the motorist, Ted Maxedon of De Soto.

NAMES OF 88,117 REMOVED FROM VOTER REGISTRY

The names of 88,117 persons have been removed from the voting lists in the first 35 Chicago wards for failure to respond to suspect notices, Henry E. Marski, supervisor of judges and clerks for the board of election commissioners, said last night. The board kept 300 clerks at their jobs yesterday revising the lists for the April 9 primary.

Marski said 125,370 suspect notices were sent out in the 35 wards after a canvass of voters. Of this number it was found 31,568 had moved to other precincts and registered in those precincts. An additional 5,271 names had wrong addresses and are being studied to determine whether the voters have left the city, and 572 were wrong names.

The 88,177 whose names have been withdrawn from the precinct registries cannot vote in the primaries.

BILLBOARDS UP, BUT CANDIDATES DENY THEIR USE

18 Reply to Woman's Club Questionnaire.

BY HAL FOUST.

Eighteen candidates have answered a letter circularized by the Woman's City Club of Chicago asking the office seekers not to violate zoning ordinances with their campaign billboards. But, according to the club, the offending signs remain, a blight on boulevards and whole neighborhoods.

A detailed survey in the 50th ward found 31 political signs in violation of zoning ordinances, the club reported yesterday. Eight of these advertised the Democratic candidacies of John Stelle for governor, Benjamin Adamowski for United States senator, and Edward J. Barrett for auditor. Dwight Green, Republican candidate for governor, ranked second with seven offending boards. Richard Lyons, Green's opponent, was posted on four of the 31 boards.

Others Are Advertised.

Four of the illegal signs advertised John Gutknecht for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney. The same number advertised George A. Barrett for the Republican nomination for attorney general. State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Democrat seeking reëlection, was named on two of the offending billboards. One to each was charged against Judge Oscar Nelson, Republican candidate for state's attorney, and Jens Jensen, candidate for Republican ward committeeman.

"The belief that billboards are harmful to the stability as well as the desirability of neighborhoods is universally accepted," wrote D. E. Mackelman, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing council, in reporting on his coöperation with this activity by the woman's club.

Some Do Not Answer.

Some of the politicians did not answer the woman's club. Others answered as follows, their letters abbreviated, and with identifications applying to the nominations they seek:

Harry B. Hershey [D., governor]—"Your letter forwarded to campaign committee on advertising with suggestion that it follow the advice of the Woman's City club."

John Stelle [D., governor]—"Thank you for calling my attention to this matter."

George M. Maypole [D., lieutenant governor]—"There has been no violation of city ordinances in my campaign."

Arthur J. Bidwell [R., secretary of state]—"I shall do my best to see that none of my campaign advertising violates any city ordinance."

Oscar E. Carlstrom [R., attorney general]—"I will not clutter up billboards with any advertising."

Harold G. Ward [D., attorney general; by his secretary] —"Your thoughts will be called to his attention."

James A. Dayton [R., treasurer]—"I have given instructions that no posters or billboards be used in zoned sections."

A. C. Lewis [R., treasurer]—"In complete sympathy with efforts to correct abuses in billboard advertising."

Harry S. Ditchburne [R., state's attorney—"Will abide by law."

John Gutknecht [D., state's attorney]—"Don't know whether my billboards violate ordinances. Please advise me if they do."

Miss Landi played the leading rôle in a special radio version of the play, "The Secret Glory." Her rendition of a French song drew ardent, spontaneous applause from the audience.

A successful author as well as actress, Miss Landi came to Chicago from New York especially for the program, which was broadcast coast-to-coast over the Mutual Broadcasting system.

TROOPER IN JURY SCANDAL TO GO ON TRIAL TODAY

John Howe, suspended state policeman whose arrest in a jury fixing case resulted in the disclosure he was an escaped inmate of an insane asylum and an accused robber, is scheduled to go on trial today in the Criminal court of Judge John F. Bolton for the robbery of a grocery store 10 years ago.

Howe was indicted in 1930 on four charges of robbery. The indictments were stricken after he was found to be insane and was committed to the asylum in Kankakee. Records show he escaped and never was returned. He was appointed to the state police force in 1936.

Howe was arrested last January on a charge of conspiracy to fix a vote fraud jury. His record was brought to light and the four robbery charges were reinstated by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin. Howe was found sane Jan. 29 and ordered to stand trial on the robbery charges.

Bandit Robs Restaurant While 25 Eat Breakfast

A bandit took $25 in a holdup while 25 persons were eating breakfast in a restaurant at 33 West Madison street yesterday. Holding his hand in his pocket, as if grasping a gun, he snarled at the cashier, Miss Myrtle Spotts: "I'd just as soon kill you as not." When she hesitated in opening the cash register he said, "Open up, or I'll blow your head off."

TELLS ROOSEVELT ABOUT HIS LABEL ON COURT TICKET

Casey Asks President if He Is Sponsoring Group.

Edward B. Casey, a Republican candidate for Municipal court judge, addressed an open letter to President Roosevelt yesterday pointing out that Democratic campaign billboards in Chicago seek to convey the impression that the President is sponsoring the party's Municipal court ticket.

Casey inclosed a photograph of the billboard, listing 11 sitting judges who are candidates for reëlection, a 12th candidate, who is a newcomer, and a 13th running to fill a vacancy, whose names appear under the legend: "Roosevelt and Humanity Ticket."

Accompanying this exhibit, Casey submitted the Chicago Bar association's observations on judicial fitness and results of a bar poll on the fitness of 12 sitting judges who are running on the Democratic ticket.

Points to Low Percentages.

"These documents," he stated, "will convince you, I am sure, that at least half of them [the candidates] would not be given desk room in any decent law office in this country."

On a possible percentage of 100, Judge Eugene L. McGarry, who was indicted for malfeasance and conspiracy to accept false bail bond acknowledgments in the Municipal court bond scandal, is rated at but 21.16 in the bar poll. He is not running, however, with the support of the regular Democratic organization, and consequently his name does not appear on the billboard.

Judges who are on the ticket, and the rating given them by the bar, are Francis Borrelli, 32.94; Joseph B. Hermes, 36.92; Joseph J. Drucker, 67.89; J. M. Braude, 71.41; Le Roy Hackett, 75.91; Matthew D. Hartigan, 76.73; George B. Weiss, 80.05; Stephen Adamowski, 80.85; Gibson E. Gorman, 83.22; Frank M. Padden, 93.51, and Harold P. O'Connell, 94.54. The ratings were based on the ballots of 1,412 members of the bar.

Remarks on Sponsorship.

Casey, a former Municipal court judge, remarked in his letter to President Roosevelt:

"Here is positive proof that our local city ring is trying to make the voters of this city believe that you have sponsored a Municipal court ticket for the coming primary. Messrs. Kelly and Nash undoubtedly feel that 'Roosevelt and Humanity Ticket' sounds better than 'Kelly and Nash Ticket.'

"Ardent New Dealers argue that the New Deal in Washington is something separate and apart from these corrupt city rings that dominate the large cities thruout the nation. If there is any real difference, here is the chance to prove it."

BANDIT ROBS HOTEL CLERK.

An elevator bandit took $70 and a $30 check yesterday from James K. Justis, clerk at the Devon hotel, 1314 Devon avenue. The gunman then forced the clerk to take the elevator to an upper floor.

DETROIT SLAYING VICTIM IS FOUND BURIED IN HOUSE

Suspect Is Identified as Last Occupant.

Detroit, Mich., March 31 [Special].—Police investigating a murder-for-profit ring of automobile thieves today found the body of Philip Loyst, 24 year old garage mechanic missing since Feb. 26, in a shallow grave in the basement of a vacant house.

Search of the premises followed discovery that the last occupant of the house was John R. Kasap, 22, who is under arrest at Mount Clemens for investigation into the death of Dorsey Bowman, 43, a railway fireman. Bowman's charred body was found on a dump heap Feb. 15, three days after he disappeared. An automobile owned by Bowman had passed thru Kasap's hands to a second hand dealer.

Relatives Identify Body.

Relatives identified Loyst's body. Coroner Albert A. Hughes said that the body had two bullet wounds in the back, fired from a special .38 caliber revolver—the same type of weapon, he said, which was used in killing Bowman.

In addition, investigators found in a tub the ashes of what Inspector John Whitman of the homicide squad said he believed was Bowman's clothing.

In the attic were two heavy ring bolts and an upright iron pipe so placed, police pointed out, that a man could be held captive on his back by tying his wrists to the ring bolts and his feet to the bar.

Rental Agent's Revelation.

The discovery of the grave and its contents came after Charles Westaway, a real estate agent, had identified Kasap in Mount Clemens as the man to whom he rented the house last Feb. 22.

Both Loyst and Bowman disappeared after telling friends that they had appointments with two men who were planning to buy their automobiles. Kasap admitted, according to police, that he bought Bowman's car for $425, but has denied that he saw him after making the purchase.

FLEET BEGINS 1940 PACIFIC MANEUVERS TODAY AMID SECRECY

San Pedro, Cal., March 31 (AP).—The American fleet, with all the precautions and preparedness of wartime, was ready for instant action tonight at San Pedro, San Diego, and Hawaiian bases. It was the eve of the 1940 war games in the Pacific.

Some of the units will move to sea tomorrow, others will go out Tuesday. Secrecy shrouded the actual movements.

Within the next 36 hours, 11 battleships, 12 heavy cruisers, 8 light cruisers, 3 aircraft carriers, and 65 submarines will move to sea to form two opposing forces, the "black" fleet and the "white" fleet. From the Hawaiian area eight heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, and three squadrons of destroyers will be under way. The others will move from San Diego and San Pedro bases.

STUDENT NURSE BRAVES KNIFE; FOILS BANDIT

The presence of mind of Miss Dorothy Hackett, 20 years old, a student nurse at St. Luke's hospital, saved her from possible harm by a young colored robber last night and brought about his capture.

She was walking to the hospital when the robber stepped up behind her and held a knife to her back. He took $1.50 from her purse, then ordered her to walk ahead of him into a nearby alley.

Miss Hackett walked ahead until she reached the firehouse of Engine 31 at 1401 Michigan avenue. She pounded on the door for help. Firemen Frank Santora, Daniel Rafferty, and Patrick O'Connell ran to her aid. The robber fled, but was caught a few minutes later by Policemen Richard O'Leary and Joseph O'Connell. He identified himself as William Johnson, 15, 4317 Calumet avenue.

VILLAGE SMITHY: NEW STYLE

By CALEB

WHEN I was a kid, how we loved to scoot away after school to Williams' blacksmith shop, at the southwest corner of town! Huddled in wide-eyed silence, we watched as he swung the great bellows-handle that blew his forge-fire into a golden fountain, then lifted a white-hot horseshoe from the blaze and carried it over to his battered black anvil for tempering.

The moment of moments, of course, came in the staccato clangor that followed. His huge hammer, with its rhythmic rise and fall on the ringing iron, shattered the air. The music of Vulcan himself filled the shop and burst in thundering echoes from under the smoky rafters. Yes, I can catch them all yet—the romantic smells and sights and sounds of that stentorian landmark.

These long-ago memories returned to me as I stood in front of a second-floor display, this morning, and read—WENDELL AUGUST, Hand-Forged Aluminum. For the phrase identifies a wholly new kind of smithy: a modern structure of glass and steel, set amid shrubberied lawns in the college town of Grove City, Pa. There the forges still burn and the hammers ring, but not to the tune of iron protection for equine feet. New times, new trends, have transposed the old craft of the forge to creations wrought in aluminum; table and costume wares full of grace, artistry and lifetime utility. . . .

The idea took shape when Wendell August, in 1923, was working with iron in the architectural field. Hand-forged gates, railings, doorways and so on were his specialty. Then in 1929 the Aluminum Company of America commissioned him to fabricate the ornamental iron gates for their new building. August thought, and so said, that they might be made of aluminum. His patrons declared the feat impossible. But August experimented, proved his point—and when visitors of today examine those beautiful gates, they find them made of hand-forged aluminum: the first of the kind known.

Since then, the Wendell August Forge has glorified the art of handcrafted metal with a wealth of products from the designing board, fire, hammer and polishing cloth wielded by its sixty aluminum craftsmen. In utter disregard of machine-age methods, each piece is shaped and finished painstakingly, and the smoke of the forge itself imparts to its surface a soft-toned sheen like that of old silver.

The versatility of these art pieces ranges from lamps, trays, waste-baskets, bowls and a half-hundred similar wares, to costume jewelry—all distinguished for lightness, originality, workmanship and distinctive finish. As a result, heirloom values as well as contemporary appeal have created a noticeable Wendell August vogue.

CAPITAL SCENTS RING OF TRUTH IN NAZI CHARGES

Detects Familiar Tone in Polish Papers.

The President rose to a new height of militancy in his message to congress on Jan. 4, 1939, in which he asserted that the dictators were challenging three institutions: religion "the source of the other two—democracy and international good faith." He dwelt on the menace to religion—an effort denounced by a leading religious publication as an undertaking to incite members of religious sects to a holy war.

"There are many methods short of war," the President asserted, "but stronger and more effective than mere words, of bringing home to aggressor governments the aggregate sentiments of our own people."

Becomes More Belligerent.

Then in January, 1939, there was divulged Mr. Roosevelt's secret deal to permit France to purchase American airplanes being constructed for the approval of the United States army. A Douglas military bombing plane had crashed during tests at Los Angeles, causing the death of the American pilot and injuring a passenger. It transpired that the passenger was a French military officer.

It then came out that this secret deal with France was made in the latter part of 1938 following the arrival in Washington of Ambassador Bullitt. A French purchasing committee was on hand but had not succeeded in contracting for the latest type of bombers because this ship was being constructed by Douglas under the supervision of the American army and was to include certain secret devices.

Not Available for Year.

The understanding with Douglas was that the new plane should be entered in a competition and that if it survived the test it would be accepted by the war department for quantity production. Then under the existing rules the plane would not be available for foreign purchase until a year thereafter.

The war department refused to waive these restrictions in order to enable the French to obtain the plane at once. Bullitt enlisted the aid of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau jr., who induced the President to override the war department. The army requirements were sidetracked, the French got the planes and all was going well till the crash of the bomber spilled the beans.

It was while the American ambassador to France was in Washington putting thru this deal that the Polish ambassador, Count Jerzy Potocki, had his conversation with Bullitt which figures in the Polish diplomatic reports captured by the Germans. Potocki quoted Bullitt as saying that in the event of war America would get into it "but only after England and France bestirred themselves first."

Similar to Paris Speech.

On Feb. 22, 1939, Bullitt made a speech in Paris in which there was a passage remarkably similar to the quotation of Bullitt's by Potocki.

"We are not in the habit of starting wars," said Bullitt, and in the text of the speech issued to the press he had underscored the word "starting."

Bullitt frequently has been compelled to disavow utterances linking the United States with the enemies of Germany. On Sept. 3, 1938, he made an extemporaneous speech at Bordeaux in which he was quoted by the Associated Press and other correspondents as saying that America and France are "indefectively united in war as in peace." The American embassy denied he had employed such language.

When the secret airplane deal was exposed the senate military affairs committee instituted an investigation. After it questioned everybody concerned except the President, Mr. Roosevelt invited the committee to the White House and attempted to justify his action. He argued that it is to the interest of the United States to arm France and England against Germany, for America's first line of defense, he asserted, is in France.

Berlin Assails Envoys.

BERLIN, March 31.—The German foreign office, thru its own newspaper, the Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, tonight denounced what it described as the machinations of William C. Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassadors to Paris and London.

"The actions of these American amateur diplomats," the paper said, "are all the more incomprehensible since the neutrality laws of their own nation must have showed them that they were working diametrically against the standpoint of their country in furthering, thru the introduction of their official authority, tensions that could have involved their nation in the conflicts of the old world.

"The wilfullness of such representatives, which cannot be excused alone as dilettantism and which in the past has caused untold damage also in Berlin, has remained until today a factor with which foreign nations as well as America must reckon.

Opposed to Intervention.

"The surprising and unheard of fact must be registered that official diplomatic representatives of a power which, since the days of Washington and Monroe, rests its principles on the sharpest opposition to intervention in the affairs of foreign continents and which should have drawn a bitter lesson from the consequences of the violation of these principles after Versailles, were irresponsible enough actively to further intensify the danger of conflict between third powers instead of acting in a mediatory capacity.

"It will be the tragic discovery of the American public that it was their own official representatives who not only misused their powers to support—certainly aginst the will of the American people—those tendencies of the western powers that led to the war but also flirted irresponsibly with America's own entry into the war."

Calls It Blow at Roosevelt.

PARIS, March 31 (AP).—A semi-official French statement today charged the Germans with issuing alleged Polish diplomatic documents in an attempt to "advance themselves" against President Roosevelt because he refused to be an "accomplice" in a Hitler peace offensive.

A Polish government spokesman today said a communique was being prepared for release, probably tomorrow, which would brand as fakes the documents the Germans said they discovered in the files of the Polish foreign office in Warsaw.

NEW YORK CHINESE BURN IN EFFIGY HEAD OF PUPPET REGIME

New York, March 31 (AP).—Angry Chinese, in a mass demonstration tonight against the "puppet leadership" of Wang Ching-wei, burned in effigy the head of the new Chinese central régime established under Japanese sponsorship.

A caricature of Wang and pamphlets attributed to him were burned in the narrow, crooked streets of Chinatown while a crowd of 3,500 Chinese danced and jeered.

Earlier, after observing a three minute silence for the memory of China's war dead, they heard Lieut. Chiang Wego, 25, second son of Nationalist Leader Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, denounce Wang as "a traitor to his country and to his people."

"His treachery in making false use of the name of the father of the Chinese republic, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, is a sign of his utter moral depravity," Lieut. Chiang said. "Because he is condemned thruout China as a traitor, he has not and never will have any popular support. His support will be entirely from the Japanese military, to whom he is a slave."

SEE JAPS BIDDING FOR PEACE IN NEW PUPPET REGIME

Believe Wang Rule Merely Stopgap Move.

NANKING, China, March 31 (AP).—Usually well informed persons here expressed belief tonight that the new Wang Ching-wei régime would be merely a stopgap thru which Japan would seek an ultimate peace with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his Chungking government.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek.

It is said on usually reliable authority that there is a strong group in the Japanese army which favors a prompt settlement with Chiang Kai-shek provided the generalissimo would agree to accept minimum peace terms calling, first, for agreement to participate in the anticommunist alliance and to recognize Manchukuo, and second, for recognition of Japan's "special position" in North China.

May Cut Off 3 Provinces.

The second point, it was explained, practically would mean severing the northern provinces of Hopei, Shansi, and Shantung from the rest of China and handing them over to complete control of the Japanese army, whose primary purpose of invading China in 1937 was held to be to get North China's coal, iron, and cotton.

If Chiang could be induced to surrender the three provinces, some sources contend, Japanese continental army chieftains would favor withdrawing Japanese troops from south of the Yellow river, since they believe Japan's first job is to drive the menace of Russian military planes and submarines away from the northern maritime provinces.

Expected U. S. Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 31.—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and other Japanese leaders today expressed no surprise over American opposition to the new Chinese régime set up in Nanking by Wang Ching-wei. They said such a stand had been expected.

Arita, now visiting imperial shrines in western Japan, declared that the Wang government under Japanese sponsorship was based on a movement for national salvation thru peace and against the armed resistance of Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese leader.

The Wang régime was formally inaugurated yesterday, and in Washington, D. C., Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced that the United States would not recognize it, but would continue to extend recognition to the Chungking government.

Order Arrest of 72 Renegades.

CHUNGKING, China, March 31 (AP).—The government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today ordered the arrest of "72 renegades who joined the bogus régime at Nanking"—the Japanese sponsored government established yesterday under Wang Ching-wei.

REYNAUD, 10 DAYS A PREMIER, PICKS UP SPEED, POWER

Claims Several Successes in Short Time.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 31.—Paul Reynaud, master of French war policies for 10 days now, apparently has strengthened his hold on the premiership during that time.

Backed by only a one vote majority in his first test before the chamber of deputies, Reynaud since then has accomplished several things, including the British pledge not to make a separate peace, adhesion of Turkey to the franc-sterling monetary bloc, and the signing of a Turkish-Syrian friendship pact.

A Strategic Move.

Reynaud—by his latest step, the creation of a war economic committee—has enhanced his reputation as a political strategist. The committee Reynaud set up yesterday is "charged with centralizing and coördinating all questions regarding conduct of the economic war."

The strategic value of this move appears to be this;

Next week the Reynaud cabinet will appear, probably in secret session, before a somewhat hostile senate. It is this body which fired the most sweeping criticisms at the lack of economic program in the previous government under Edouard Daladier.

May Force Chamber Vote.

Premier Reynaud apparently has aimed at forestalling renewal of such an attack against his régime. It was predicted tonight that he might force a vote in the chamber of deputies, which will reassemble on Tuesday, in the expectation of increasing his majority before confronting the senators.

The first task of the new committee, according to political commentators, will be to undo the harm involuntarily done French economy by excessive mobilization last September. As an arm for waging economic war, the committee's task will be to get production and trade moving again by threshing out problems of export and transport.

DR. JAMES HERRICK, HEART SPECIALIST, IS GIVEN HIGH HONOR

Dr. James B. Herrick.

Dr. James B. Herrick, Chicago heart specialist, was awarded the American College of Physicians' highest honor yesterday. The regents conferred the title of "master" upon him by unanimous vote at Cleveland, O., where the college opens its convention today.

The same honor was given Dr. William Gerry Morgan of Georgetown university, Washington, D. C. It was the first time in 11 years that the title has been conferred.

Dr. Herrick is 78 years old. He won the American Medical association's distinguished service medal last year for his contributions toward control of coronary thrombosis.

Hungary Expects Demand for Nazi Troop Passage

VATICAN CITY, March 31.—It was learned today that one of the subjects discussed by Premier Paul Teleki of Hungary and Pope Pius last Thursday was the expectation that sooner or later Germany and perhaps Russia would demand the right to send troops across Hungary. Teleki is supposed to have made it clear that Hungary would be helpless to oppose such a demand.

TWO IDENTIFIED IN ROBBERY.

Steve Bobda, 22 years old, 13212 Avenue O, and Sylvester Novakovich, 21, of 13346 Buffalo avenue, were seized by police yesterday and identified by Royal Nyder, 13513 Baltimore avenue, as the pair who robbed him of $7.55 Saturday night. The prisoners denied the accusation.

DENIES CHARGES FRANCE STILL IS SELLING TO NAZIS

PARIS, March 31.—Charges appearing in American publications that France is still selling to Germany were denied today by Anatole Demonzie, the French minister of public works.

Regarding the principal allegation, that while France is fighting Germany, German coke is reaching France and French iron ore is going to Germany by way of Belgium, he said this trade had ceased with the opening of hostilities. No German coke is allowed to enter France, he declared, and coke which comes from Belgium is inspected to be certain it is not of the German variety. No French iron ore is being sent by the Belgians into Germany, he said, altho iron of Belgian or other origin is being sold to Germany.

Further evidence that the traffic has been stopped, he said, is the reduction in tonnage of both coke and iron ore passing thru Belgium.

PLANES SWARM ON WEST FRONT; GERMANS DOWN 7

None Bagged by French, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, April 1 [Monday] (AP).—Seven French planes were shot down in various encounters with the German air force yesterday without a German loss, the government radio announced this morning.

Amplifying the radio announcement, DNB, German official news agency, reported a number of air encounters along the French front in which 25 Messerschmitt planes fought 36 French Morane fliers.

Near Puttlingen [Puttelange], DNB said, eight Messerschmitts attacked eight Moranes and shot down two. South of Saargemund [Sarreguemines] nine Messerschmitts fought 20 Moranes and caused two to crash. Above Morchingen [Morhange] eight Messerschmitts battled eight French pursuit planes and destroyed three.

Capture of prisoners by Nazi shock troops north of Saargemund was reported by the high command.

French Report Air Activity.

The British-French high command reported tonight: "Fairly intense activity by both air forces." This morning it said: "Artillery fire in the region northwest of Bitche. Bursts of machine gun fire along the Rhine in upper Alsace."

German nomad batteries were held responsible by the French for artillery fire on a 30 mile front between the Saar river and the Vosges mountains. The guns have been pounding French positions for several days, but the French believe the fire has no special significance.

The Germans are using 105 millimeter mobile guns. They haul them to positions flanking the French, fire a few rounds, and hurry to a new spot.

North of Bitche and in the Neid river regions the Germans launched three attacks. French troops inflicted casualties and took prisoners, dispatches stated.

The firing along the Rhine in upper Alsace broke out whenever the Germans hoisted pacifist posters or turned on their loudspeakers.

The French said German planes had attacked an unnamed French warship but failed to damage it.

Weygand Visits Paris.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, commander of French forces in the near east, has arrived here for a military conference. The significance of his visit was not apparent. Weygand's army in Syria is understood to number fewer than 200,000, a force said to be insufficient for a major offensive. There are large British and Turkish forces, however, in the near east.

Scout Shetlands, Orkneys.

LONDON, March 31 (AP).—German scouting planes caused an air raid alarm in the Shetland islands today. Another plane caused an alarm in the Orkney islands, where shells fell in the street as antiaircraft guns opened fire.

Britain's ministry of information stated a German bombing plane was disabled far out over the North sea.

The Norwegian vessel Nydalen ran ashore in Scotland and was feared a loss. The crew was saved.

Battles in Air

(Story in adjoining column.)

Germany yesterday announced that eight German planes shot down two of eight French planes in an air battle (1) and that nine German planes opposing 20 French (2) forced two of the latter to crash. Near Morhange (3), the Germans said three other French planes were shot down. Artillery was reported active on a 30 mile front (4).

FRENCH TO FILL OUT CARDS FOR FOOD RATIONING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 31.—Sometime during the night of April 2-3, all persons in France except soldiers must fill out a food census card and deposit it with authorities of the region in which they live. Individuals who fail to do this will not be included in the ration system to be set up and will be unable to buy foods or meals.

The cards already have been distributed. In filling them out, residents must give their age, occupation, and any war disability. Decisions as to the amount of food which each individual may buy will be based on this information.

BRITAIN PREPARES TO CUT U.S. GOODS FLOWING TO NAZIS

Tightened Blockade Will Ration Neutrals.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 31.—Important announcements concerning new diplomatic and economic tactics being adopted by France and Britain to speed up the war are expected from Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in the house of commons on Tuesday.

The new policy is understood to include a rationing scheme that would permit neutral nations to import only the goods necessary for their existence. It would prevent surpluses from reaching Germany.

Hit at U. S. Customers.

The scheme is expected to hit at neutrals which have been making large purchases in the United States and supposedly sending much of the goods into Germany. Thirteen countries are mentioned as middlemen of this sort. They are Italy, Russia, Rumania, Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, Hungary, and Switzerland.

There are indications that England expects Norway to prohibit the shipment of Swedish iron ore thru Narvik. The ore has been going to Germany from that port.

Hope to Force Offensive.

The tone of the press and the declarations of Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, who said yesterday that an intensification of the war may be expected, make it certain that new moves are contemplated to keep imports from reaching Germany and to try to induce Adolf Hitler to launch an offensive.

Reactions of Holland, Belgium, Denmark, and Scandinavia to Churchill's speech indicate these countries fear a closer blockade will be a threat to their economy. They seem to feel the tightened blockade will provoke Germany to take military measures to safeguard its trade.

BRITISH EXPECT ACTION

LONDON, March 31 (AP).—Tightening of the naval blockade and economic action in the Balkans were heralded today as indications of a general pepping up of Britain's war policy.

The foreign office denied, however, that Turkey had given Britain and France permission to send warships thru the Dardanelles straits to cut German-Russian trade in the Black sea.

[French foreign office circles said today they were unable to confirm the report of diplomatic circles in Bucharest, Rumania, that Turkey would open the Dardanelles. Reports persisted in southeast Europe, however, that Turkey had agreed to do so.]

Britain Serious, Say Italians.

ROME, March 31.—Authoritative Italian circles said today that yesterday's speech by Winston Churchill, British first lord of the admiralty, indicated the British mean business. The Italians doubted, however, the British-French possibilities for action.

A report that the British-French fleet will move into the Black sea to cut a German-Russian sea route is not credited here because it is believed the move would be a cause for Russia to go to war. Italians are convinced Britain wants Russia's friendship.

FRANCE TO FIGHT EPIDEMICS WITH SANITARY TRAINS

Altho the European war has produced only a few hundred gunshot deaths to date, France is prepared to meet epidemics which may accompany the war with a number of sanitary trains—hospitals on wheels—the Journal of the American Medical Association said yesterday.

The rolling hospitals were designed because regular hospitals aren't always conveniently located for care of epidemic victims. The Journal stated that armies and the evacuation of civilian populations always present the hazard of epidemics.

A tank coach furnishing sterilized water, another car supplying heat, others for changing clothes, disinfection, and shower baths and a laboratory section are included in the train, in addition to coaches for moving stricken persons. The hospital on wheels makes possible application of prophylactic measures to a large number of persons.

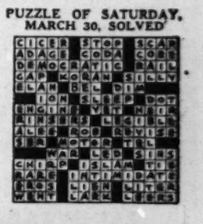
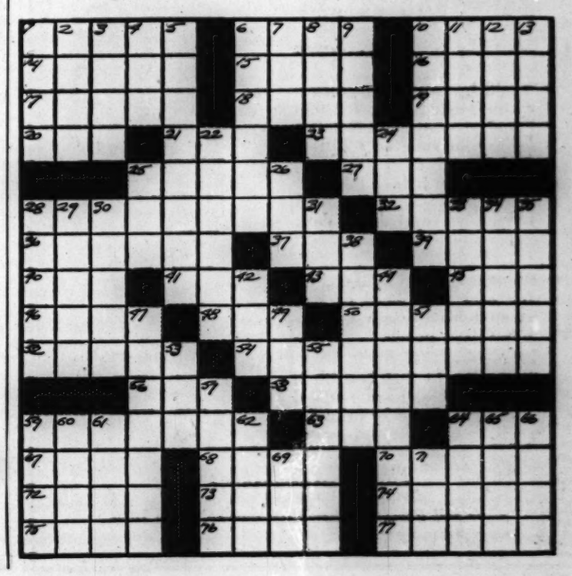
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, MARCH 30, SOLVED





RUSSIA BOOSTS DEFENSE FUNDS PAST 11 BILLION

Creates 12th Republic in Finnish Territory.

MOSCOW, March 31 (AP).—Russia stepped up her defense appropriations today and decided to create a new republic—the 12th within the soviet union—incorporating territory won from Finland with soviet Karelia to form the union Karelo-Finnish soviet Socialist republic.

The 1940 defense budget of 57,000,000,000 rubles [nominally about $11,400,000,000] was announced in the supreme soviet, Russia's parliament. Last year's defense appropriation was $8,177,000,000.

The announcement of the record defense budget was made by Finance Commissar A. G. Zverev. He was applauded by the supreme soviet and by Josef Stalin.

Pays Tribute to Army.

Paying tribute to the work of the Red army in the last year, Zverev said that "If Stalin calls, the soviet people will rise as one."

Decision to create a new republic in the northwest bordering Finland was made by parliament at an earlier session which heard the lands won from Finland called "a bulwark of peace and security" protecting Leningrad, Murmansk, and the Arctic rail line to Murmansk.

Of the more than 13,900 square miles ceded by Finland, all but a small section near Leningrad will be included in the new republic.

Stresses Economic Ties.

Deputy Andre Zhdanov, member of the powerful political bureau and chairman of the foreign affairs commission, told parliament the new republic was being created in conformance with the desires of the Karelian people.

Stressing the historic and economic ties between the newly acquired territory and soviet Karelia, Zhdanov said the republic would include the former Finnish cities of Viipuri, Sortavala, Suojarvi, and Kuolajarvi.

He disclosed that Russia already has built a new railway to join the two areas. A line has been installed linking the Sortavala-Viipuri line with the railway between Petrozavodsk, Karelian capital, and the Murmansk line.

Bound by Racial Ties.

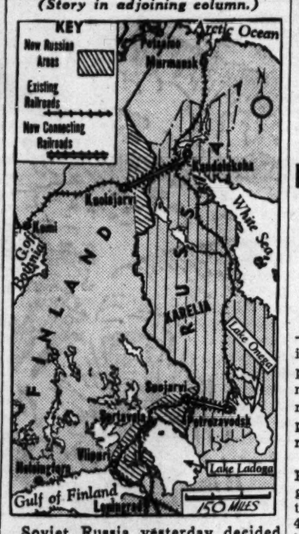
Regarding the choice of Karelo-Finnish as the name for the new republic, Zhdanov said "the districts which pass to Karelia are not only Karelian, but some of them are purely Finnish.

"The Finnish and Karelian peoples are bound by racial and national blood ties. Transformation of soviet Karelia into the union Karelo-Finnish republic will contribute further to the economic and cultural development of these two kindred people.

"It will put an end to the enmity and discord that were cultivated many years by the enemies of the Finnish and Karelian peoples."

New Soviet Republic

(Story in adjoining column.)



Soviet Russia yesterday decided to create a new republic by adding territory taken from Finland (diagonal lines) to the soviet state of Karelia (perpendicular lines). New railroads have been built to link the new territories with the Murmansk railroad.

VATICAN TOLD IT CAN'T INTERVIEW POLISH PRIESTS

VATICAN CITY, March 31.—Germany has refused to permit the Holy See to interview Polish priests and Catholic laymen in western Poland, it was authoritatively stated in vatican quarters today. The refusal was pointed to as evidence that the recent visit of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, failed to improve relations between the Holy See and Germany. The vatican also has been unable to get permission to send money to needy persons inside German occupied Poland.

FINNS TO CARVE THEIR FUTURE AS DEMOCRACY

Regency Talk Is Dropped; Push Reconstruction.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 31.—With its prestige unimpaired and its authority even enhanced by the peace treaty with Russia, the Finnish government's plans for national reconstruction are being rapidly completed by various ministries and commissions.

There is no more talk of making Field Marshal Baron Mannerheim regent to tide the nation thru the task of providing new homes for the 430,000 persons who abandoned their homes in the territory ceded to Russia.

Finland will continue to exist as a democracy, functioning efficiently under the capitalistic system with a maximum of freedom for personal initiative. Strong efforts will be made to prevent further decrease in living standards, which were curtailed by the war.

Capital Levy Accepted.

There has been no criticism of the peace signed by Premier Risto Ryti in Moscow or of his new cabinet's decision to make a capital levy amounting to approximately 10 per cent of the nation's wealth to reorganize the country's economic life and defenses.

Thousands of applications have been received by the ministry of defense from war veterans who desire to attend officers' schools.

Along the new frontiers, the Finnish army is busy constructing new lines of defense. Fresh classes of reserves, chiefly men previously rejected as unfit for service, are being called into the army for an indefinite period of intensive training and work.

Military supplies are at a high level. Besides booty captured from the Russians, the Finns have quantities of arms from abroad that arrived too late to be used in the war.

People Thankful for Aid.

Neither the Finnish press nor the people have raised their voices to reproach other nations for failing to send help that might have helped Finland to win the war or obtain a better peace. The Finns are thankful for the help already received and appreciate the spirit in which it has been given. Help is continuing to arrive from America, Scandinavia, and other countries.

Finland's shortage of man power is being reduced by thousands of volunteers from other countries. Sweden is providing skilled workers needed in the building trades and Denmark is sending farmers.

Finland's general staff states that 14 weeks of war resulted in a death toll of 15,000 to 20,000, the latter figure being the absolute maximum. The total number of wounded is a secret, but THE TRIBUNE learns that almost 40,000 are now receiving hospital treatment.

Battles Shown by Films.

A prized possession of the general staff is a series of films depicting the progress of various battles, including that on the ice of Viipuri bay. The pictures were taken from airplanes. On one day in the last week of the war the Red army lost 69 tanks, many of which sank thru the ice.

Maj. Gen. Erik Heinrichs is the Finnish army's new commander in chief. He was a Helsingfors newspaper reporter when he joined the 27th German Jaeger regiment in the world war. During Finland's recent war with Russia he commanded the Taipale sector of the Mannerheim defense zone on the Karelian isthmus. The Russians attacked his forces as early as Dec. 5, but never wrested a foot of ground from him.

Gen. Heinrichs is less than 50 years old. He replaces Gen. Hugo Oestermann, who commanded the Viipuri sector until shortly before the close of the war. Gen. Oestermann, it is now revealed, retired from the command because his health failed. His wife had been injured by a bomb during a Russian raid on civilians and his brother had been killed at the front.

CZECH ELUDES HUNT BY GERMANS; FRIEND SENTENCED TO DEATH

PRAGUE, Bohemia-Moravia, March 31.—Johann Smutek, 25 year old Czech who is the object of a wide search by German and Czech police, was still uncaptured late tonight.

Ladislaus Vojtetsch was sentenced to death by a German court today for having warned Smutek of the approach of police. Smutek apparently had been hiding out in Vojtetsch's house.

Karl Kuba, charged with having failed to betray Smutek's whereabouts, was sentenced to serve 10 years in prison.

Smutek is charged with having murdered a German secret police agent and two German frontier guards. A cordon has been thrown around Prague in the search for him.

THOUSANDS VISIT PIER TO VIEW FLOWER EXHIBIT

Thousands of Chicagoans and suburban residents visited the flower show at the Navy pier yesterday and last night. The show is the 14th annual exhibition sponsored by the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc. Allied trade associations are coöperating.

Visitors saw what one observer described as one of the most remarkable flower shows ever given in the United States.

THREE SISTERS WILL BE 3 YEARS OLD TOMORROW

Three blonde, blue eyed little girls, the triplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Kubovy of 1508 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, will be 3 years old tomorrow. And surprises will be threefold for triplets Jean, Joan, and June, for each will receive a blonde, blue eyed doll, a toy tricycle, and other gifts—not to mention a cake with three candles.

"Whatever we get, we have to get three of a kind," Mr. Kubovy explained. "Otherwise there might be trouble."

The triplets are all three feet tall, and weigh about 29 pounds apiece. A birthday party, at which the triplets will play hostesses to 15 little playmates, will be held next Sunday. They have a sister, Carol, who is 5½ years old.

OUR WAR BIRDS IN THE POLISH ARCHIVES.

If the Polish documents printed in the German white paper as reports found in the state archives in Warsaw are forgeries it must be admitted that the craftsmen had authentic models before them.

Mr. Roosevelt says that anything emanating from Europe must be taken with several grains of salt, but the denials issued in Washington do not help us much. They are a diplomat's first line of defense whether he is innocent or guilty.

The forgers, if such they were, did not go to work upon material which would be unrecognizable in American eyes. They took utterances and events as Americans have heard them spoken and have seen them happen, and about them wove the more intimate inner-office confidential details that might have been in the hidden background of what appeared in public.

The authenticity of what is known to be true does not, of course, establish by itself the truth of the purported revelation of the whole story. But it does establish the fact that there is no inconsistency between what is known as the public record and what are presented as the secret proceedings behind it.

It was reported to Warsaw that Mr. Roosevelt wanted to persuade the American people to accept a great preparedness program which went beyond defense needs. That can be checked against Mr. Roosevelt's public utterances and his message of Jan. 4, 1939, declaring alarm and asking for great armaments. Count Potocki is alleged to have reported to his foreign office that American foreign policy was to become active, that war preparations would be carried out with increasing speed and would require 1¼ billion dollars, that moral assurance would be given England and France that the United States was ready to abandon its isolationist policy and would place its resources at the disposal of the French and British. All that happened.

It will be recalled that Mr. Bullitt and Mr. Kennedy were discovered—after the crash of a Douglas bomber with a French inspector on board—to have worked with Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Roosevelt in obtaining American planes, as yet untested by the American army, for the French and British.

It will be recalled further that Mr. Bullitt in a speech in France was quoted as saying that America was indefectively associated with its French allies. He denied that he had made the statement. The word "indefectively" was an odd one for the correspondents to use in an invented speech not made by the ambassador. When Mr. Bullitt is reported as telling the Polish ambassador for the information of Warsaw that the United States would not be in the war at the beginning but would be in at the finish, he is not stepping out of character.

What we know these officials said and did in public gives credibility to what we are told they said and did in secret. There is a consistency thruout.

Mr. Roosevelt, quickening his foreign policy, made it the issue of greatest importance in this country to repeal the embargo act and put the resources of the United States at the disposal of the French and British. The Polish reports said he would do this. In his well remembered Canadian speech at a bridge dedication he assured Canada, a commonwealth of the British empire, that its defense against aggression was a stated part of American policy.

As one explanation of the American government's desire to have a hand in the overthrow of Hitler it was set forth in the reports that Mr. Roosevelt desired to distract American attention from troubles at home by involving the country in foreign controversies. Such an observation is not unfamiliar to the American people. It has been made here often enough.

There is nothing in these papers which does not reflect the tone, spirit, and letter of the conversation Mr. Roosevelt had with members of the senate whom he called to the White House to discuss the perils confronting freedom, and therefore confronting the American people. It was at this meeting where Mr. Roosevelt tried to pledge his auditors to secrecy that the remark originated: "Our frontiers are in France." It was tagged at the time by a White House denial but verified at other sources as a true statement of Mr. Roosevelt's meaning, if not precisely in his words.

When the bolshevists seized power in Russia and broke into the czarist archives they published the documents which revealed the secret treaties by which the allies had agreed to divide the spoils of war. Denials followed that disclosure. Mr. Wilson tried to maintain that he knew nothing of the treaties and he persisted in that against the cautious statements of British authorities who said he must have known because they told him.

The American people know they have warmongers whose persistent policy is to involve the United States in the European war, who have taken many of the steps which preceded 1917 and who hope that consequences will repeat themselves. Mr. Roosevelt's ambitions are taking on the character of Mr. Wilson's. His ambassadors reflect his sentiments just as James Cromwell, the minister to Canada, did the other day in a speech of great impropriety. Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Bullitt, and Mr. Cromwell have been overawed by royal attention and seek the distinctions which may be attained by gratifying the demands of a government headed by a king. Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy, and Mr. Bullitt were slackers in the other world war and, altho they profess to know what war is, they are ignorant of its horrors and have no experience which would influence them to see that others avoid it.

BOXING FOR THE GLORY OF THE STATE.

Two former Golden Gloves boxers were in the ring for the world heavyweight championship Friday evening in Madison Square Garden. One was the champion, Joe Louis, and the other Johnny Paycheck, the Golden Gloves heavyweight champion of 1933. Johnny hit Joe once and the floor four times in a round and a fraction.

The boys in these Golden Gloves tournaments who prove to be exceptionally good amateurs are very soon found in the professional ranks. Arch Ward of our sports department advises most of them not to turn professional, and has good reasons for giving that counsel. But the most promising boxers will take a chance with their skill in the ring to win the large rewards which go with success. There may be penalties attached to a professional career, but there are the tempting sums of money in it.

An interesting contrast to this is to be found in the experiences of the boys who come over here on the European teams to box in the international Golden Gloves tournaments. The European boxer who is very good keeps his amateur standing and continues in the amateur ring. He serves his army term, goes into business, marries and raises a family, and still continues as an amateur boxer as long as he retains his skill and stamina. Exceptionally fine European boxers return for the international bouts. Americans they fought one year as amateurs may be in the professional ranks the next year. If the European practices were followed here, Joe Louis might still be fighting as an amateur Golden Gloves heavyweight.

There are apparently two reasons for the long career of the European amateur. One may be the lack of the attractive purses of the American ring. Europe doesn't offer that lure of quick profits in the private enterprise of professional ring fighting. There is also another reason, and it is more significant. The European boxers, in many instances, are under governmental pressure to remain amateurs for the glorification of the state, which of course means the glorification of the régime.

What is called statism, the concept of the state as the reason for living and the satisfactory end result for all individuals, demands that the person put aside all thought of private welfare when the prestige of this devouring abstraction, controled by egotistic authority, requires it. And that reaches even the boy with boxing gloves on his hands.

VICTORIOUS CHINA.

About the time Finland was making a hard peace—for Finland—with Russia, Japan seems to have been making a hard peace—for Japan—with China. With one thing and another the news service from the far east has been so disordered, apparently, that news of the licking Japan took from the Chinese didn't break thru. It was lost in the Maginot-West Wall static until it appeared in the Japanese-American Review, the Japanese propaganda publication in this country. There it was treated with proper regard for its importance.

"Wang's Stern Bargain with Japan," runs the spreading headline, "Ridicules Assertion He Is a Puppet." Chiang Kai-shek is not in the peace, altho he has been invited to accept it. The stern bargainer to whom Japan submitted is Wang Ching-wei, whose long service with Dr. Sun Yat-sen is admiringly dwelt upon by the Japanese commentators. He broke with Chiang in 1938 and started out to put the Japanese invaders in their place. The Japanese concede freely that he has succeeded and has established a government in Nanking to which the Tokio government bows and with which it has made a stern treaty, stern for Japan.

The former premier, Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, was the representative of Tokio at the inauguration of the conqueror as president of the free and independent China. Sotomatsu Kato, former minister to Ottawa, will head Japan's diplomatic corps in Nanking after Gen. Abe returns home.

The stern Mr. Wang, if we may believe the Japanese output on the matter, has succeeded in doing what the hard fighting Chiang could not accomplish. He has tamed the invaders and made them recognize a free and independent China, in which freedom will be modified only by a few considerations of the Japanese military, police, navy, and customs, and of Japanese financial, industrial, and educational dominance. Otherwise Mr. Wang may be regarded as the savior of his country, honored as such by an enemy which is now cordial and complimentary. So that matter is attended to.

PAID DIRECTORS.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Stockholders of the Johns-Manville corporation adopted a resolution at their annual meeting recently authorizing the officers of the company to pay its directors compensation up to $5,000 a year. In discussing the resolution President Lewis H. Brown declared he "would like to feel free to call upon them [directors] more frequently and for longer meetings without having to apologize for imposing our company problems upon their time."

Recognition of the right of corporate directors to fair compensation for their time and, more important probably, for their business experience and background, is entirely in accord with the principle written into the banking laws after the collapse of 1933 of creating boards of directors who will direct. The principle is sharply at variance with the practice which has been all too common of having directors who rubber stamp the decisions of an executive committee and vote formal approvals for whatever policies require such action.

Corporations which adopt the new policy will probably move toward smaller directorates while directors who are chosen chiefly because of the prominence of their names are likely to be dropped.

In times such as the present, business operation and corporate management are by no means pro forma matters. It requires in increasing measure the time and attention of the most competent executives. If in their operations they require more of the services of their directors fair compensation for their time and contribution would seem to follow as a matter of course.

TWINS TWANG THE LYRE.

To end our quest of famous twins, we will trot out a pair who left their marks in the histories of English literature. These are the Vaughans, Henry and Thomas, of the Caroline or Stuart period [mid-17th century]; and in the case of Henry, the mark is fairly deep. You will find him in all the standard anthologies of English poetry; his highest score, seven titles, is in "The Home Book of Verse."

Henry Vaughan belongs to the school of mystic and God-intoxicated poets that contains George Herbert and John Donne, but he also wrote secular verse. His work was originally published in four volumes, and these were not easily accessible until a complete "Poems" was brought out in 1896. William Wordsworth owned a volume of Vaughan which contained the poem called "The Retreat," and one glance at this mystic contemplation of childhood will convince you that here was the inspiration for Wordsworth's famous "Ode on Intimations of Immortality."

This Vaughan was a physician who practiced in his native town of Newton-on-Usk, in Wales. A contemporary [Anthony à Wood] describes him as "eminent for medical skill, and esteemed by scholars as an ingenious person, but proud and humorous." [The latter word then meant whimsical and eccentric.]

Vaughan's "The Retreat" and "They Are All Gone Into the World of Light" are ranked by all critics as among the finest verses on mystical themes in the English language. Says Sidney Lee's "Dictionary of National Biography": "Vaughan's position among English poets is not only high, but in some respects unique."

The other twin, Thomas, gets as much space in the Encyclopedia Britannica as his brother. He began his career as a clergyman; he was unfrocked on charges of drunkenness, immorality, and bearing arms for the king; he became an alchemist; he published much esoteric writing, in prose and verse; and he died, 30 years before his brother, from poisoning by mercury vapor in experiments to find the "philosopher's stone."

[Millicent M. Hopp's interesting letter about the Vaughan twins is acknowledged with thanks.]

Last Wag of the Lobster's Tail.

Regarding your recent items on "lobster tails": The family of lobsters is usually divided into two genera; Homarus, the common lobster, and Panulirus, the spiny lobster or sea crayfish which supplies the "lobster tails" of the fish markets. Species of Homarus are confined to the North Atlantic ocean. The various species of Panulirus are found in the warmer waters and are widely distributed thruout the world. In this country they are found on the southern California and Florida coasts.

They are also reported from such widely separated points as Australia, southern Europe, Hawaii, and South Africa. In both California and Florida, to prevent threatened extinction, they have been heavily protected by law. In both places there is a very short open season when specimens up to a certain size may be taken.

A SPRING RENDEZVOUS.

All winter-weary I shall climb a hill
And greet young April in the wind-swept morn,
And of her innocence my being fill,
Until my waning faith shall be reborn.
For April is an adolescent maid
Who smiles thru tears; and trembling shyly, spills
Anemones and violets thru the glade,
And covers barren slopes with daffodils.
Then I shall clasp her hand and hold her close,
And think not backward thru the weary years;
And all youth's glowing fires, warm and true,
Will flame again in that one rendezvous.

Fame and Fortune for 25c.

There are entrancing possibilities in the dummy newspapers with headlines printed to your order that have come to the loop. One example is the Palos Park resident who sent a paper home announcing that he had acquired 20 race horses. The jest has lost its savor now that he is being besieged by needy jockeys, feed merchants, and those who wish to stable his mythical steeds. Another case concerns the gentleman who sent copies to all his friends stating that he had won $20,000 on a horse, and is now trying to return the mink coat his wife bought when she heard of it.

TUBERCULOSIS AND MODERN ADVANCES IN TREATMENT.

THERE was a time—in the memory of many—when tuberculosis meant the end of the story. Physicians of but little more than a generation ago prescribed creosote and cough mixtures and sent their patients to the seashore or the mountains. But—strange to relate—many recovered. One of my early mentors was a medical man who had suffered severe pulmonary hemorrhages in his home environment [Pennsylvania] and had gone west, as he put it, "to die." New surroundings, with more rest and good food, brought about arrest of the disease; and the kindly old doctor passed to his reward in his 79th year.

We know now that the ailment will be conquered permanently only when we are able to control the spread of the organisms from the sick to the well. There are some who believe that many children develop a relatively mild type of the malady, which they soon overcome. Following an attack, the little one is no worse off except that later he may be reinfected at a time when resistance is low and his ability to fight the disorder is weak.

It is these second attacks that are dangerous, as it has been proved over and over again that should a lad escape the first onslaught—and should the organisms strike after he has reached adult status—he will be more likely to combat them successfully. This tendency has been demonstrated repeatedly by J. A. Myers, who has shown that among students who are negative to the tuberculin test [no childhood infection], those who contract the disease are but mildly ill. They behave much as do youngsters with the initial exposure.

We may look upon the year 1912 as the turning point in treatment. Then it was that lung collapse, or pneumothorax, came into practical use. It was found that the introduction of air into the pleural space caused the affected lung to contract into a small, functionless, compact mass no larger than one's two fists. One great advantage of this program lies in the fact that cavities are obliterated—their walls squeezed together. In such a situation the tubercle bacilli no longer grow profusely. Neither are they thrown off in the sputum. This is an important stage in healing.

Later improvements in X-ray apparatus permitted us to visualize the contents of the chest—and to thus detect cavities and other evidences of the affliction. Today the collapse procedure is routine and in many clinics 80 per cent of the patients are under this form of therapy.

Fortunately, it was recognized that in some individuals the method failed. The trouble was that adhesions held the air sacs expanded. In other words, the tissues were not free but were tied to the pleural wall. Only partial shrinking was accomplished until a way was devised of severing these guy ropes by means of a cautery.

Despite all these advances, the old plan of complete rest in bed remains an anchor to windward. No direct sunshine is allowed to strike the body and no exercise of any sort—not even a trip to the bathroom—is allowed. This interval may be three months or somewhat longer in duration—but enough to build up the victim to the point wherein the diseased parts may be immobilized thru pneumothorax.

The time has passed when it is essential that one take a journey to a distant clime in order to recover. Sanitarium management, however, is highly desirable whether it is within one's vicinity or at some remote point. Regularity, system, and discipline are needed. This explains why home care—possible under ideal conditions—fails so frequently. All too often the sick one bosses the household—which destroys the value of the régime. We may look upon climate as helpful but not indispensable; and there is some advantage in taking the cure where the individual is to resume his active labors.

FOOD VALUES OF HIGHBALLS.

M. S. writes: Do alcoholic beverages have high caloric values? Are they fattening?

REPLY.

Some do and some are. The one who makes a habit of taking several drinks instead of a meal will develop a vitamin and mineral deficiency. Furthermore, he will become an authority on natural history—particularly snakes and lizards. Alcohol with meals, however, will add to calories and hence to poundage.

EXCESS SALIVA.

E. K. writes: What can be done for excessive saliva? It keeps me awake at night.

REPLY.

Any irritation within the mouth will increase the output of the salivary glands. Those who have acquired new dentures [false teeth] complain of this difficulty. Removing the structures on retiring usually brings relief. Good oral hygiene should be the rule.

DRY LIPS.

I. F. writes: What is the cause of dry, parched lips when fever is not present?

REPLY.

SHORTENS LIFE?

A. V. writes: Does sleeping on the left side shorten one's life?

REPLY.

LIFE OF THE PARTY.

Chicago, March 29.—Last night, after a monotonous day at the office and an even more boring session of evening school, I came face to face with a phase of life which had not particularly bothered me before. A man of noticeably high spirits due to an overdose of intoxicating beverages boarded the northbound "L" on which I was a passenger and turned the car into a one-man circus. He first treated himself to a cigaret, altho reminded of the various "no smoking" signs, and had a simply wonderful time blowing the smoke in the faces of two shocked matronly ladies. Evidently the fumes were not appreciated because their kindly countenances then expressed the highest form of disgust as well as some contempt.

The next victim was a man who unfortunately sat next to him. He immediately was put up for auction and every member of the fairer sex became curious when his physical qualities were praised. The oratorial detonations, however, were stopped short as the orator gazed in amazement at a young man who had charge of two musical instruments. The young man in question had the misfortune of being seated next to an attractive girl reading a book. I say misfortune because our hero became very interested in finding out whether it was any more possible to play two instruments than it was to read two books. The debate that followed, of course, was carried on with no opposition from any one else.

No doubt, if some one could have taken a movie of this fellow and confronted him with it when he had sobered up, he would have been cured forever because, even tho we all laughed at him, I am sure that every one of us more or less pitied him and felt a deep sympathy for those dear and near to him, and if he could have seen himself as he was last night nothing could have tempted him to drink again.

This is just one of the many things that make life what it is, an incessant merry-go-round. MARY LOU LARSON.

GUARANTEED INCOMES.

Wichita, Kas., March 26.—Agriculture is not an infant industry requiring government aid; indeed it is the oldest of all industries and should be thoroly self-supporting by this time. If the government is to provide parity payments to farmers in order to boost their incomes to what they were years ago, the consistent thing would be for the government to provide all business and professional men with a guarantee of the same income in the year 1940 as they had received in the more prosperous years of long ago. The whole proposition is fantastic if not scandalous. It will have to be understood that the federal government is not a rich uncle with inexhaustible funds but, instead, that it is merely a clearing house for the collection of sufficient revenue to pay for the legitimate expenses of government, exclusive of socialistic experiments of any kind.

CONGENITAL, NOT HEREDITARY.

Chicago, March 29.—"Syphilis is not hereditary," says Dr. George Crane in "Test Your Horse Sense." Dr. Benjamin Breakstone disagrees and says, "This is contrary to medical science. The only disease which can be demonstrated as being transmitted from parent to child is syphilis."

Dr. Breakstone is mistaken, for syphilis is not hereditary.

First of all it is necessary to define "hereditary." Geneticists use the term to describe the transmission of parental characteristics to the child thru and by means of the genes in the chromosomal pattern of the cells.

Using the above definition it is not conceivable how the causative organism of syphilis, treponema pallidum, can be transmitted other than congenitally from the circulation of the mother into the circulation of the child. Some diseases such as mental derangements are hereditary, but they are transmitted thru genic arrangement and have no causative organism. Predisposition to bacillary or virus diseases is also transmittable from parent to child. But when a causative organism is transmitted from parent to child it is done so congenitally and not hereditarily.

THE D. A. R. IN POLITICS.

Dixon, Ill., March 28.—I was very much interested in the statement in your issue of March 27 that Mrs. J. F. Zimmerman, honorary state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, had called on members of that organization to vote for a certain Republican candidate for United States senator.

From whence came this authority? Not from her official position, since she is only one of 11 honorary state regents.

Why does she think the members of that organization need to be dictated to? They have the reputation of being bigoted, narrow, and self-satisfied, but are generally credited with average intelligence.

I have labored under the delusion that the traditions existing since the founding of the D. A. R. forbade their entering politics as an organization. My error!

HAPPENINGS ON APRIL 6.

Chicago, March 28.—Momentous events occurring on April 6:

George Washington was elected first President of the United States on April 6, 1789. The Battle of Shiloh was on April 6, 1862. Admiral Peary discovered the north pole and claimed it for the United States on April 6, 1909. The United States declared war on Germany on April 6, 1917.

On this April 6 we will celebrate Army day. Let us all fly the American flag on that day and let us always hope for peace. FRANK CONTE.

SUIT FOR PERSONAL INJURIES.

Chicago, March 29 [Legal Friend of the People].—Please give information on this case: I was hurt over two years ago while driving. This man ran into the car in which I was riding. The case had a hearing in December of 1939. The judge rendered a judgment of $2,500. The man offered to settle for $500. My attorney's fee and hospital bill being almost that much, I refused to take that and asked for $800, which was less than one-third. The 30 days were up [in which he had to make the settlement] and on the 22d of January, 1940, he declared bankruptcy. The case was heard on Dec. 20, 1939. The 30 days were up on the 18th of January, 1940. He declared bankruptcy on Jan. 22.

1. Does this mean he does not have to pay anything to me?

2. If there is anything to be done, how should I go about it?

3. On the notice of bankruptcy I received I could not collect or garnishee. Is this true? M., S.

1. The question whether anything will be paid to you depends on the ratio between his assets and liabilities. The question whether the judgment can be barred by bankruptcy depends on whether it involves a finding of negligence amounting to recklessness.

2. The attorney who obtained the judgment for you is in a better position to advise you than we are.

3. If the debt is barred by bankruptcy then you cannot collect it. It is not clear what question you intend to ask.

1. He accounts to the court rather than to the private owners. It seems probable that the court will be satisfied with his exhibiting original vouchers and filing copies. Presumably an attorney is being employed, and if so, the attorney is in better position to advise you than we are.

2. The law makes no provision for majority vote in such case.

Subtracting, Year by Year

WE'RE a hundred and fifty years old, yet we continue to get younger year by year.

You'll probably notice it particularly on your next visit, because of the way the Great Hall has been done over; it wears a new garment this spring.

No, we didn't spoil it; we think its beauty is enhanced. And all the qualities which have made so many people call it "the noblest room on the continent" are preserved. But you'll recognize it as "new."

By such means does the old Homestead maintain newness, preserve and renew its youth, subtract from its age with every year.

GIRL PILOT AND 4 CHILDREN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Hundreds See Craft Fall; Flames Block Rescue.

Seattle, Wash., March 31 (AP).—A plane hurtled 180 miles an hour into a sawdust pile here today and the woman pilot and four children passengers died in the flaming craft, turning a sightseeing trip into tragedy.

The dead were Miss Cora Sterling, 25 years old, Washington's first woman transport pilot; Janet, 8, and Charleen, 4, daughters of King County Commissioner Jack Taylor; James, 10, and Allen, 14, sons of Charles Taylor of Seattle and nephews of the commissioner.

The sightseeing tour had been arranged for the children by former Commissioner John C. Stevenson, one time candidate for governor, who owned the single motored four passenger ship.

Host of Party Collapses.

Stevenson, watching the flight from the field after having taken the craft up himself twice earlier in the day, collapsed.

The accident occurred in what flyers called ideal weather conditions and in full view of hundreds of Sunday afternoon drivers.

The plane, which had been in the air only 15 minutes, was flying at about 500 feet when suddenly it side slipped while making a vertical bank, and crashed full speed into the sawdust pile at a lumber company yard a short distance from Boeing field, in southwest Seattle. The plane struck so hard the nose was buried more than five feet in sawdust.

Witnesses' Accounts Vary.

Witnesses differed as to whether the plane caught fire in the air, backfired, or plunged to earth with its motor on. As it struck, the gasoline tank exploded and attempts at rescue were thwarted by flames. The ship was reduced to ashes and twisted metal.

Claude Thompson, operator of the Boeing field control tower, said just before the ship crashed, it made a graceful arc as tho the pilot intended to return to the field. He expressed the belief Miss Sterling had for some season been unable to level off for a landing.

August Toellner, another witness, said the ship appeared to catch fire in mid-air; but William Herrold and Clarence Prentice said they noticed no flames until the gasoline tank exploded at the moment of impact.

Miss Sterling obtained her first flying license at 18, when she was reputed to be the youngest licensed woman flyer in the nation. Last year she was elected president of the Associated Women Pilots of the Northwest.

THREE PLANES END ENDURANCE HOP IN 7 HOURS

Sarasota, Fla., March 31 (AP).—An attempt by three light airplanes to better the existing endurance record of 22½ days of continuous flying ended abruptly here tonight when two of the ships landed after being in the air less than seven hours.

With two of the competing craft down, Promoter Roy Gordon directed the third one, manned by Harold E. Dahl of Spanish civil war fame, and Earl Johnson, to land. The crew of the first plane to land said efforts to refuel the craft had failed. The crew of the second said their battery had gone dead. They also had trouble refueling. Gordon said the difficulties would be corrected and another flight started within a few days.

WIDOW DIES AFTER FALL.

Mrs. Mary Thoner, 83 years old, 1808 South Homan avenue, a widow, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital of injuries suffered in a fall in her home on March 15.

LOANS

YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.43 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors needed — No credit questions asked of friends or relatives — Quick, private service.

Do you want to get a loan quickly and simply? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $300 without endorsers or guarantors, if you can make regular monthly payments. From the table below you may choose the payment plan which fits your own purse. You may repay a small amount each month. Or you may make larger payments in order to pay up sooner.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will find, for instance, that monthly payments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

CHICAGO E. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

When you borrow at Household Finance, you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.60 each, or a total of only $106.40, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. (Payments shown in the table include all charges. You pay nothing more.)

One rate to everyone

Household charges only one rate —the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

All you do to borrow

All you do to get a Household Finance loan is to acquaint us with your problem. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives —and you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get the money you need in a simple, private transaction.

Fair treatment

Household shows every consideration to the borrower faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 10,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

Find the loan you need in the first column of the table and read across. See how you can repay your loan with a small part of your pay check. Then phone or visit us. You will be under no obligation to borrow.

LET'S NOT BE STAMPEDED

PUBLIC INTEREST DEMANDS DELIBERATION—NOT HASTE ON THREATENING TRANSPORTATION BILL

• IS OUR GOVERNMENT under some obligation to rush the passage of a bill to "save the railroads"—regardless of the public benefit and in spite of all opposition? Even if there is a railroad problem, there certainly is no transportation CRISIS. Under the misleading plea of "equal treatment for all," the railroads are attempting to offset the economies of other forms of transportation in order to create railroad profits.

For years railroads have said: "Much of our business has been lost because we have to provide our own roadways and maintain them, while trucks operate on public highways, so we cannot compete." They want to cure this situation by further government regulation and restriction.

WHO PAYS?

However, this contention will not stand the light of analysis. Certainly we have highways designed to carry our commerce. That is why highways have been built since the beginning of history. Certainly, since the advent of motor transport, our highway system has grown with amazing rapidity. But what has paid for these highways? Commercial traffic! The heavily taxed trucks and buses pay their full share. Other business automobile traffic practically pays the remainder and this is true whether it is passenger car or light delivery wagon. Pleasure riding is only about 12 per cent of the traffic but even that pays its share.

ROADS PRODUCE WEALTH

Is there any reason why the public should not benefit from reduced transportation costs reflected in lower prices of all commodities? After all, the roads belong to the people. As for taxes—the increased real estate taxes, due to higher assessed valuations of property adjacent to highways and the taxes accruing from the tremendous volume of commerce produced by highways, are only indirect but enormous additions to the huge direct license, gas and special taxes amounting to more than a million dollars a day paid by motor truck operators.

The Public Would Pay

THERE is too much sound opposition to the so-called Transportation Bill which is just about due to come out of Congressional Conference Committee, to hurry it through.

Let us remember that the PEOPLE are not asking for this legislation. Yet, if this proposed bill is enacted into law, the public will have to foot the bill in increased shipping costs.

Of course, taxes pay for the roads. Of course, the roads are open to commercial traffic—that is what they are for. Can the general public or the motor carriers put flanges on the wheels of motor vehicles and use the railroad tracks? No — these are privately owned. They are part of the business equipment of the railroads. By the same token, there are no license plates dangling from the rear of each car of 50-car freight trains, nor are they restricted as to weight, stopped, weighed or searched as they cross State lines over their private rights-of-way.

PUBLIC DESERVES BENEFITS

Let us remember—the public, the shippers, are not asking for this legislation. They are pleased to welcome new facilities. They want to enjoy the full advantages of newer forms of transportation. All the regulation the public wants is sufficient to insure safety and fair competition so that they can count on a stable rate structure. We have this sort of regulation and trucks are now regulated even more comprehensively than railroads, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Producers, carriers, shippers and consumers are demanding an opportunity for public study of the Transportation bill before action is taken. This matter is too important to be hurried before an unprepared Congress. Agricultural, shipping, industrial, consuming and civic organizations want an opportunity—for the sake of the public interest—to study this threatening legislation. There is no crisis which should interfere with this careful study.

HINT FOUL PLAY IN GIRL'S DEATH ON U. S. VESSEL

Chemical Analysis Asked After Autopsy.

Detroit, Mich., March 31 (AP).—Federal authorities pressed their investigation today into the mysterious death of 18 year old Charlotte Mary Cranson aboard a naval reserve training ship after a coroner reported she had succumbed to "something other than natural causes."

The girl was found lying on the blood stained gun deck of the U. S. S. Dubuque early Saturday as an aftermath of an all-night party described as a "drunken orgy."

Dr. Albert E. Hughes, Wayne county coroner, who performed the autopsy, withheld his report pending a chemical analysis of the girl's blood and other organs.

He said he had ordered the analysis because "something other than natural causes led to her death."

Six Held for Questioning.

Detained for further questioning by federal bureau of investigation agents, who assumed full charge of the case, were John W. Klanauskas, 20, caretaker of the Dubuque, and five other surviving members of the party.

John S. Bugas, in charge of the FBI's Detroit office, said the primary purpose of the investigation was to determine whether any crime had been committed on federal property.

Held with Klanauskas, escort of the dead girl, were David Palmer, 19; Robert Newman, 18; Marfory Smith, 19, and a 16 year old girl.

Dr. Hughes said Miss Cranson might have been poisoned by something she ate or drank or that she might have succumbed to some disease.

Evidence of Chloroform.

Investigators discovered evidence that chloroform had been administered to Miss Cranson as a prank and ordering of the analysis gave rise to the belief this might have caused her death.

Klanauskas admitted spending the night with Miss Cranson and awakening early in the morning to find her body 25 feet away.

AUTO CRUSHES CONDUCTOR AT REAR OF CAR

Motorists Hurt in Fatal Crash on Bridge.

A Belmont avenue street car conductor was killed late last night when he was crushed against the rear end of his car by an automobile. The two occupants of the automobile were injured. The dead man was H. E. Anderson, 35 years old, 658 Roscoe street.

The accident occurred on the Belmont avenue bridge over the north branch of the Chicago river, near Rockwell street. The trolley of the street car had become disengaged, and Anderson alighted to replace it. A moment later he was struck. Akard Lorenz, 36, 4015 Bernard street, driver of the automobile, suffered a possible skull fracture, and his companion, Miss Hazel Love, 34, of 3903 North Tripp avenue, fractured an ankle. They were taken to the Martha Washington hospital.

Two Crashes Near Elgin.

One man was killed and eight persons injured, two critically, in two auto accidents in state route 25, about two and a half miles south of Elgin early yesterday morning. All except one of those involved live in or near Elgin.

The dead man is Anker Castrup, 29 years old, 212 West Chicago street, an excavating contractor. The two critically hurt are Robert Webb, 22, of 155 South Channing street, and Edmund Powell, 21, of Illinois Park.

Turns Over Several Times.

Police said a car driven by Castrup went off the road and turned over several times in the ditch when he lost control on a slippery highway. Castrup died almost immediately, and his four passengers were injured. They were Webb; a brother, Howard Castrup, 32; Miss Patricia Osborne, 26, of 401 Arlington avenue, and Charles Ward, 24, of 118 Center street.

Shortly afterward another car, driven by Paul Allemann, 23, of 208 Moseley street, ran into a group of persons who had stopped to aid those in the wreck.

Allemann was slightly injured, and three other persons also were hurt. They were Powell, George Ludwig, 25, of Coloma, Mich., visiting in Elgin, and Mrs. E. W. Mason, 413 North street, Elgin.

Killed in Head-on Crash.

Harold Lawson, 42 years old, an official of the Lawson Transfer and Storage company, Rockford, was killed yesterday when his car and a trailer truck collided head-on in Higgins road a mile east of Arlington Heights road. Arthur Ceynowa, 35, of New Lisbon, Wis., was the driver of the truck.

George Stainis, 65 years old, 2639 Montgomery avenue, was fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding overturned on a curve about two miles east of Valparaiso, east of Valparaiso, Ind.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 225 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 171 were killed in Chicago, where 4,931 were injured in the same period.

TAKE CASH AND FUR COAT.

Arnold H. Leon, a sales manager, and his wife, Sally, were held up in front of their home at 434 Roscoe street by two armed bandits last night. The robbers took $90 from Leon and $23 and a mink coat, valued at $900, from his wife.

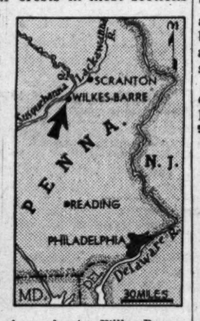
FLOODING RIVERS REACH CREST; 10 LIVES ARE LOST

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Spring floods in the east and west reached their crests in most sections last night [Sunday] after taking at least 10 lives, menacing thousands of acres of farm land, and driving hundreds from their homes.

Altho the danger of widespread property damage seemed ended in California and upstate New York, serious flood threats faced eastern and central Pennsylvania. Rivers also were spilling out of their banks in Ohio and New Jersey.



Arrow locates Wilkes-Barre.

Swollen streams claimed six lives in Pennsylvania and there were four dead in upstate New York, where many roads were closed. At Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the Susquehanna was expected to reach 33 feet late today, slightly below the 33.3 crest of the disastrous St. Patrick's day flood of 1936.

Coast guard boats from New Jersey were rushed to endangered towns along the Susquehanna and state agencies at Harrisburg sent assistance. Along the Delaware rising waters also menaced low lying communities in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

A "flash flood" which had threatened industrial Pittsburgh swept down the Ohio river after reaching a crest of 28.53 feet.

150,000 WITNESS OPENING OF NEW CLIPPER AIR FIELD

New York, March 31 (AP).—A crowd of 150,000 gathered at the $30,000,000 La Guardia field today for the opening of the international air terminal, replacing Port Washington at the New York end of regular Clipper flights to Europe.

The 74 passenger Yankee Clipper nosed into a stiff westerly wind and over the strains of the national anthem and the cheering, flag waving throng roared off toward Lisbon, Portugal.

President Roosevelt, in a letter read at the ceremonies, said: "This magnificent terminal will assure New York's preëminence in service to the Clippers of today, the Clippers of the air, on their peaceful missions to Europe and the rest of the world."

PHYSICIAN HELD AFTER DEATH OF YOUNG MOTHER

Charged with Performing Illegal Operation.

Alton, Ill., March 31 (AP).—Dr. C. E. Trovillion, 69 years old, a physician and former managing officer of Illinois state hospitals here and at Anna, Ill., was held tonight on a coroner's warrant charging him with performing an illegal operation.

The physician was under guard at Alton Memorial hospital. Deputy Sheriffs took him into custody after he pleaded illness as his reason for not appearing last night at an inquest into the death last Wednesday of Mrs. Mary Ann Marie Page, 20, the mother of a son, 13 months old.

A coroner's jury, summoned by Coroner Dr. W. W. Billings, held that Mrs. Page came to her death from a criminal abortion induced by Dr. Trovillion.

The verdict recommended the physician be held without bond for the next Madison county grand jury. The verdict, under Illinois law, is not binding on the grand jury nor on the state's attorney.

The woman's husband, Arthur Page, an oil refinery worker, testified he took his wife to Dr. Trovillion March 12, and that the alleged operation was performed in his presence. Page said he took her back to Dr. Trovillion's office March 18 for treatment.

Mrs. Page's mother, Mrs. Oma Chamberlain, told the jury Dr. Trovillion visited her daughter twice at the Chamberlain home.

Dr. Trovillion, who has been practicing in Alton for eight years, was managing officer of the Alton state hospital from 1921 to 1926, and held the same position at the Anna state hospital from 1926 to about 1932.

LIKE A SNEAK THIEF!

Unless promptly and properly treated, a venereal infection is certain to rob you of health and earning power!

GONORRHEA and syphilis require immediate and expert medical attention if their dreaded after-effects are to be avoided. To neglect either of these treacherous infections, or to depend on inefficient quack or self treatment, is to risk being robbed of your health, livelihood and possibly your life!

Syphilis, for example, may lead to heart trouble, blindness, deafness, paralysis and even insanity. And gonorrhea can cause a sight-destroying eye infection, crippling arthritis, stricture, sterility or prostate, bladder, kidney and other disorders.

What is more, venereal diseases are serious obstacles to successful motherhood. An expectant mother with gonorrhea may have her baby blinded at birth. And the woman with syphilis who is not properly treated during pregnancy is likely to bear a dead, deformed or feeble-minded infant!

So, if you know or suspect you have a venereal disease, don't run the chance of losing both your health and earning power. It's so unnecessary when you can take advantage of the inexpensive services of the Public Health Institute, which in the past 20 years has given over 5,000,000 examinations and treatments for gonorrhea and syphilis to more than 275,000 Chicagoans.

Because the Public Health Institute was founded by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, its charges are remarkably low for the expert treatment given. A thorough examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs little, while individual treatments are easily within the reach of every wage earner.

Furthermore, even those temporarily short of money can arrange to be treated without undergoing an embarrassing credit investigation or signing any papers whatsoever!

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

With separate departments for men and women, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. (at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn St.) can have certificates same day.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

ECONOMY BLOC MOVES TO TRIM APPROPRIATIONS

Defense Items Target of Spending Foes.

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—Congressional economy advocates whetted their pruning knives for national defense appropriations today when a compilation showed a net reduction of only $57,774,349 in the 13 supply bills already acted on by one or both houses.

Earlier in the session, the cuts in budget figures totaled about 300 million dollars, but this prospective saving was nearly wiped out by senate increases in the farm appropriations bill and house action last Friday in boosting President Roosevelt's recommended appropriations for the CCC and the National Youth administration.

Report 60 Million Cut.

National defense, as represented by the navy appropriations bill, already has borne the brunt of the reductions in budget recommendations. However, some of the navy cut may yet be restored.

The senate is scheduled to decide this week whether any part of the $111,699,699 which the house whittled off the navy's bill should be put back. The navy has asked for restoration of at least $50,000,000.

The war department appropriations bill is scheduled to be reported to the house Wednesday. The appropriations committee is understood to have cut this measure about $60,000,000 under budget estimates.

Army officials were said to have agreed to elimination of $27,000,000 originally asked to finance purchase of reserve planes for the air corps. It was explained that the increase in productive capacity of plane manufacturing plants since the European war began made a large reserve unnecessary.

Slash Not Yet Approved.

Aside from the house slash of $111,699,699 in the navy measure, the largest was a $74,704,473 cut in budget recommendations for the independent agencies of the government—a reduction agreed upon by a joint committee of both houses but not yet made final by formal approval of the two bodies.

Congressional action has been completed thus far on only three monetary bills. An emergency deficiency appropriation bill was cut $20,176,995, a minor deficiency bill $2,783,700, and treasury-postoffice outlays, $10,845,417.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Dayton, O., March 31.—Ann Sheridan and George Brent have passed the torrid zone. . . . M. G. M. estimates that the Norma Shearer-G. Raft romance would add at least $1,000,000 to any picture in which they were teamed. . . . Say, that Cupid is quite a little financier, isn't he? . . . Now Judy Garland and Bob Stack are running a temperature. . . . Arthur Treacher, the No. 1 gentleman's gentleman, prefers Virginia Taylor. . . . Bill Lundigan and Rosella Towne are making it a habit. . . . Radio Oriole Kay St. Germaine and Jack Carson will see a preacher Aug. 10. . . . Mrs. Jock Whitney and Tom Shevlin something new in Hollywood twosomes. . . . Lupe Velez is developing a yen for Roger Marchetti. . . . As a result of the dramatic rôle he played so well in "Forty Little Mothers," Eddie Cantor's next picture may be an Ernst Lubitsch epic, for Sol Lesser. . . . The Jack Bennys will adopt a 4½ year old boy.

Our Hollywood gang is busting records in its first week at the R. K. O. Colonial theater, playing to standees five and six deep. . . . Arthur Treacher, Helen Parrish, Bela Lugosi, Marjorie Weaver, and the Douglas MacPhails [Betty Jaynes] won notices in the local papers that will make their coast studios sit up and take notice. . . . To make the week perfect, Metro wired me that MacPhail's contract has been renewed for another year. . . . Jackie Cooper and Lee Ernst getting romantic. . . . Olivia De Havilland is trying to persuade Jimmy Stewart to abandon stunt flying. . . . Has Eddie Sutherland set the date for his wedding to Edwina Mandel? . . . Cast of "Meet the People," musical revue which clicked so mightily on the coast, are not satisfied with the $15 a week raises that tilted their pay to $40-per-week. . . . Ann Rutherford dancing nightly at the Sphinx club with Lou Blau.

Eyeful with Ernest Truex is Olive Patch, former swimming champ. . . . Ella Logan of "Scandals" and Eddie De Lange an item. . . . Now Jackie Coogan is splitting his dates between Fran [Scandals] English and Florence Baker. . . . Bob Oliver is wooing Paramount's red headed Mary Martin. . . . Frances Farmer seeing Hollywood with Andy Lawlor. . . . What's this about Ilona Massey and Alan Curtis? . . . They met on that "Northwest Passage" trip to Boise, Idaho. . . . Maureen O'Sullivan plans to join Hubby John Farrow at Toronto. . . . Farrow's last picture, a remake of "Bill of Divorcement," with Maureen O'Hara in the Katharine Hepburn rôle, didn't come off too well. . . . Miss O'Hara was badly cast, or so this reviewer thought. . . . Now it's Norman Burnside with Ruth Hussey. . . . She really is a very delightful number, in case you hadn't noticed.

Now it's Anatole Litvak and Barbara O'Neill. . . . The Johnny Maschios [she is attractive Connie Moore] will be parents in October. . . . Cletis Cladwell the "Okie" has Ken Murray biting his cigars in half. . . . The British army rejected Leslie Howard. . . . The Hays' office recalled all photographs taken of La Sheridan in a corset, but permitted her to dress that way in "And It All Came True." . . . Why, Mr. Breen? . . . Gloria Blondell and Cubby Broccoli plan a fall wedding. . . . He is a very nice guy.

Alice Faye is timing her vacation from Hollywood so that she won't run into Tony Martin. . . . In the meantime she and Sandy Cummings are closer than a mustache on Jerry Colonna. . . . Tyrone Power and Annabella plan a week's vacation in New York. . . . Immediately Henry Fonda returned to the coast he started emoting in "Brigham Young," which Henry Hathaway is directing. . . . Helen Gilbert and Vic Orsatti ought to make up their minds. . . . Everything happens to Joan Crawford: The Legion of Decency ban on "Strange Cargo" will cut heavily into the grosses. . . . Forrest Tucker and Ann Miller, "Scandals" hoofer, a twosome. . . . Eddie Grainger and Jinx Falkenburg still at it.

A wire from Darryl Zanuck protests the letter that Lillian Russell's daughter, Dorothy, penned to me: "Dear Ed: I returned from Sun Valley and was greatly disturbed, because this type of letter is harmful to our picture. We have authentically followed the life of Lillian Russell, and I want to drive home this thought of accuracy, because people today are prejudiced against any picture they contemplate seeing when they hear that facts have been destroyed in favor of fiction. On Lillian Russell our research was exhaustive and we spent $2,000,000 in re-creating the atmospheric background. I can tell you sincerely that neither the public nor you will be disappointed in what William Anthony McGuire has achieved. Say hello to your Hollywood vaudevillians for me. Regards, Darryl."

Julia Burley, Victor Harding to Be Married

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a small tea at home in Winnetka yesterday afternoon Mrs. Clarence A. Burley announced the engagement of her daughter, Julia, to Victor Harding Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harding of Hubbard Woods.

The announcement came as a surprise to most of the young people who were invited to the party, for the engagement had been kept a secret pending the arrival of Miss Burley's brother, Clarence, who arrived Saturday morning from the east. He is a sophomore at Harvard university.

Miss Burley attended the North Shore Country Day school and was graduated from Smith college last June. She made her debut at a tea in 1936.

Mr. Harding, a graduate of Exeter academy, of Harvard university, and of the Harvard university law school, is an active member of the Chisago Rugby club.

The wedding will take place this summer.

Anne Stevens to Wed Edward W. Hobler.

An engagement announcement that is of especial interest here because both families formerly lived here has come from Dr. and Mrs. David H. Stevens of Montclair, N. J. It is of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Elizabeth Stevens, to Edward Windsor Hobler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Atherton W. Hobler of Stamford, Conn., formerly of Batavia, Ill.

Dr. Stevens, director of humanities for the Rockefeller Foundation, formerly was professor of English and associate dean of the University of Chicago. Mrs. Stevens was a founder of the University Coöperative Nursery school here, one of the first of its kind in the United States. She now is a member of the Montclair board of education.

Miss Stevens was graduated from Chatham Hall in 1935 and from Sarah Lawrence college last June. She is a member of the staff of the New York Museum of Modern Art.

Mr. Hobler, a grandson of Herbert T. Windsor of Batavia, attended the Hill school and was graduated from Princeton university last June. He now is attending the University of Virginia law school.

Miss Stevens' brother, John Scott Stevens, and Miss Marion Kuehn were married in Chicago last November. They are making their home here.

Announce Engagement of Jane Wheeland.

Further romantic news comes from Mrs. Esther J. Wheeland of Winnetka who is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Jane, to Ronald H. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Nelson of Chicago.

Miss Wheeland attended the Francis Parker school in Chicago and Wellesley college. Mr. Nelson attended Central college. The wedding will take place next fall.

Lucien Wulsin, president of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, and Edgar Friedlander, its treasurer, will be among the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. at the Racquet club this evening.

Plans for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will be presented. During the coming season special programs will be arranged to include new works by contemporary European and American composers, and the Chicago Symphony orchestra will exchange two guest performances with the Philharmonic Symphonic orchestra of New York.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Ryerson, who is president of the Orchestral association, will discuss the plans with the members of the Woman's committee of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The meeting will be held at 3:45 o'clock in the Woman's Athletic club, following Hans Lange's chamber music concert at the Blackstone.

Miss Susan Vilas and Lowry Kennedy Grulee Jr., who are to be married on Saturday, will be especial guests of Miss Suzette Crawford and Russell Crawford Jr. at a cocktail party at the Crawford home tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. G. A. E.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Pauline Dorothea Wyman and Edward Foss Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, were spending yesterday at Edellyn, the Wilson farm on Skokie highway, when this picture was taken. Their engagement was announced Saturday by Miss Wyman's mother, Mrs. Paul Wyman of Germantown, Pa. Mr. Wilson, a Princeton graduate, is president of the packing company that bears the family name. His fiancee is a graduate of Vassar college. She is doing personnel work at Northwestern.

Young Pianist Gets Ovation and Earns It

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Marilyn Meyer, who has spent only 15 years on this planet, sounds as if she had devoted 14 of them to a study of the piano. When she strode out upon the stage of Orchestra hall yesterday to make an appearance with the Civic orchestra the audience got an immediate impression of competence and self-assurance. That impression was strengthened rather than weakened by what followed.

The first movement of the Saint-Saëns G-minor concerto was played with a vim and boldness which did not preclude a beautiful depth and roundness of tone. It was incongruous to see somebody dressed in little girl clothes and sitting there under a great mop of childish hair, yet whanging the piano with the aplomb of one who has been doing just that sort of thing since the 1880s.

Little Miss Meyer managed to make the second movement—the scherzando—tart and tantalizing. She played with a nice delicacy and formed her phrases to accord with and to express the music's piquancy.

The concerto's exhilarating finale built up audience excitement to the point where an ovation was inevitable. It came like a thunderclap hard upon the heels of the last clanging chord.

This young visitor from Milwaukee [via New York, where she has been studying] was the kind of surprise we get only at rare intervals.

Germ of Spring Shopping Fever Lurks in Stores

BY REA SEEGER.

It's time to have spring shopping fever, time to select a crisp new wardrobe for daytime as well as evening. There are so many good looking things in town shopping will be fun. Slinky new dinner clothes are particularly sensational after weeks of naïve full skirts, innocent appearing fragile sheers, artlessly gathered waistlines and front fullness in simple shirred formations.

These dinner clothes are sliver slim creations that reveal every curve of the streamline—another necessity for correctly fitted underlayers, especially the girdles, corsets, and all-togethers in the suave spring manner.

Costume materials cling adhesively so that luxury crêpe and semisheers of silk and wool have returned to the spotlight. Deep midnight blue is flattering and high fashion . . . the sheath dress is marked with a deceptive simplicity that only an expert could manage. Exceedingly narrow shoulder straps accent the simple outline of the bodice top, and brief boleros of the same material complete the costumes.

One of the most romantic gray outfits has side decoration of silver pailettes on the dress, and the long straight pencil slim coat, with a small hat of the gray trimmed with the same silver pailettes shining thru drifts of pale gray veiling that reaches almost to the hipline.

Good Morning!

There is, it seems, an old Chinese proverb [mebbe Confucius say] that, when one person saves another from drowning, the responsibility for the remainder of the savee's life rests on the shoulder of the saver.

Well——

Dr. Karl Decker, returning from Yucatan, where he has spent his vacation in research, to his clinic on New York's east side, marries the beauteous dame he had prevented from plunging into the ocean because of despairing love for a married man . . . HOPING that his love and psychological perspicacity may be of service in straightening out her muddled life and outlook.

Georgi hopes, too, and comes down from her world of Riverside drive and thereabouts to labor in Karl's vineyards—and escape the man with whom she's still infatuated.

This sound advice leads the story's characters and the observer thru a wearisome maze of banalities finishing with the expected H. E.

Spencer Tracy's grand naturalness buoys up the trashy tale and provides a reassuring bulwark for the beauteous Hedy's timid histrionic efforts. Hollywood's No. 1 mystery—is Hedy an actress or is she NOT—continues to be Hollywood's No. 1 mystery. . . . Certainly in this rôle she performs no wonders, but, equally certainly, she hasn't much of a rôle.

Veree Teasdale comes gallantly to Mr. Tracy's aid with some swell work as the heroine's sophisticated modiste friend. How she CAN put over lines! Other players do well with—practically nothing.

BUT—— —

"Do you call this a good picture?" the man who was with her asked the woman who sat next to me. And she replied acidly. "Certainly—what do you want?"

In its way the picture DOES have considerable, of course. For Hedy doesn't LAVE to act to please most men, and few women count a picture lost that has Mr. Tracy in it.

See you soon.

Viennese Waltz Hater.

Archduke Otto of Austria was supping with some friends in a popular restaurant, and the management thoughtfully asked the orchestra to play some Viennese waltzes.

"I hate Viennese waltzes," confided the young pretender to the throne of the Austrian empire as he got up to dance.

Saturday Luncheon Hour.

Archduke Otto and his brother Felix were eating luncheon at table No. 1 at the Pump room Saturday; red-haired Jeanette MacDonald was lunching at a table across the way; Roland Young was having an aperitif with some friends at the bar, a party that included pretty Jacqueline Paige of Ladies and Gentlemen; Mischa Elman was eating luncheon with a friend at a small, quiet table, and Helen Hayes was lunching with her child and her child's governess. The eyes of other luncheon hour patrons were moving from one side of the room to the other with the regularity of spectators at a tennis match.

Model Wife.

We offer Miss Hayes as a model for wives—humorous, tolerant, and witty, as the following incident proves: As she and her child and the governess finished their luncheon Saturday and Miss Hayes was about to dash to the theater the head of the family, Playwright Charles MacArthur appeared in the doorway.

"Isn't Charlie wonderful? He's never changed as long as I've known him," Miss Hayes said admiringly to a friend at the adjacent table. "Always late. There he is—just now coming to have luncheon with us."

In the Morning Mail.

"I was amused by the item in Front Views and Profiles in which you mentioned the antique shop near Chattanooga that purchases all its antiques in Chicago. . . . A couple of years ago I went fishing off Falmouth, Cape Cod. The captain of the fishing boat, a typical old Cape Cod salt if I ever saw one, said, when he learned I was from Chicago, that he had been in Chicago several times. He always liked to visit Chicago, he said, for he could get the best seafood dinners he knew anything about in the Boston Oyster House. This is not a commercial, so help me! H. E. Pine."

Two soda fountain employés were trying to identify the piece that at that moment was being played over the radio, which was Debussy's Claire de Lune. Several titles were suggested, but neither girl mentioned the correct one, according to William Ray, who overheard the discussion. Finally, unable to make a decision, one of the girls changed the subject.

Include Throatline in Your Nightly Program of Massage

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"From the base of the throat to the hairline" is a reminder we suggest for placard form in your bath room or over the table in your dressing room, should the latter be the scene of your nightly beauty care.

From the base of the chin to the hairline, too, often is the formula pursued, and that leaves an area exposed above the collarline that just may belie the good work above it. Not all the jewels of India will save that throat if the skin is weathered or aged.

We always point to one woman of our acquaintance who, for years and years, hasn't ever climbed into bed without giving her throat a massage. She concentrates even more on the neckwork than on the face. The consequence is that her throatline has been maintained in beautiful condition. It goes without saying, of course, that her facial skin is lovely, too.

It probably isn't that women need to be told about the throat care; they just need to be reminded. Reminded, too, that not only the front neck area needs this advised care, but the sides of the neck and the back should be included, too.

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor agrees to give Sam $25,000 in addition to full pardon for all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade obstinate Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of Drury's canyons. Sam gets a job on Drury's ranch and has a run-in with his worthless son, Steve, and his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia. Instead of firing Sam, Drury takes his advice and gives Steve a small stake and sends him out on his own; and he tells Celia she has to run the house. Both children leave home in a huff, Celia getting a job in a restaurant. Steve gets into a crooked poker game with Bales and ends up the big loser, having to go into partnership with Bales. Bales persuades Steve to get the grant of the canyon property so they can make the governor pay them. Sam, investigating the canyon, is captured by Bales and his men. They steal his gun, tie him up and leave him. Sam manages to break loose and when he reaches town he is arrested for the murder of Steve. The gun with Sam's initials is found near the murdered man. Matt is determined to hang Sam, but Pearly, Matt's foreman, convinced of Sam's innocence, resigns from his job. He buys a stable next door to the jail and digs Sam out. Pearly and Sam flee to the hills but not before Sam locks the sheriff into jail. Since the river determines the boundary of the land Bales plans to sell to the railroad, Sam and Pearly concoct a scheme to outwit Bales. Sam daringly returns to town, locks the sheriff in jail the second time and while the townsmen are chasing him, Pearly gets some dynamite and tools and heads for the canyon. Bales takes the railroad man to the canyon to complete the sale and finds the river's course changed. And the sale isn't made! Sam finds Santee on the river's bank and shoots him. Bales falls backward into the river, thus saving being fatally wounded and makes his escape to town.

INSTALMENT XXV.

THE PRODIGAL DAUGHTER.

"I'm Santee Bales, Miss," he said to Celia. "I was your brother's partner. You look like him."

Celia said, "It's all right, Double-Jack," and Double-Jack went back into the kitchen. Celia surveyed Bales with cool curiosity.

"You're the man that helped to fool dad out of the Rio Medio canyon?"

"That's right." Santee made a shrewd guess, then. "If the deal went thru, young lady, you would have been the richer by several thousand dollars."

"But Steve's dead. You don't owe him anything."

"I know. Still, he wouldn't want it left to your dad, after the treatment he got. I was going to put his share to your account."

"I could use it," Celia laughed. "But you speak as if it's past."

Santee told her about the Rio Medio being shifted from its course, of his ride up the canyon to the dam, of the fight with Sam Teacher, and of his escape. Celia's dark face was lit up with anger as he finished.

"But he can't do that!" she said.

Santee shrugged. "He did."

"But those poor farmers below! What will they do for water?"

Santee was listening idly, staring at the tip of his cigar, rolling it in his fingers. But when Celia spoke, his fingers ceased toying with the cigar, and he raised his head slowly, until he was staring at Celia.

"You mean there are farmers usin' that water for irrigation?"

Santee dropped his cigar and smacked his fist on the counter. That's it! That's all I need!" Without another word to Celia, he rose and hurried out. On the way to the livery stable he almost ran. In another five minutes he was galloping out of town toward Santa Luz.

Double-Jack had told Celia to take Sunday off, but she refused. She was trying to please him, Double-Jack knew, but still she needed fresh air and a rest. And something else, too. Along toward late afternoon, Double-Jack untied his apron and said, "I'm sick of this dump. I'm goin' for a ride. You comin'?"

With nobody left to serve customers? Of course I'm not."

"I'm lockin' up," Double-Jack said. "It won't make no difference whether you're here or not. If you want to ride with me, come along. If you don't, then go to sleep or call on your friends."

"West, out in the grass. I'd like to take my boots off and wade in the stuff."

Celia smiled at him, and agreed. They rode out west on the road toward the Star 22, and Celia was very quiet. Double-Jack, to make up for it, talked incessantly and tried to make her laugh. But it was uphill work, and by dusk he gave it up.

"Hadn't we better turn back, Double-Jack?" Celia asked, as darkness approached.

When they topped the low rise from which they could see the lights of the Star 22 off in the distance, Celia pulled up. "This is far enough," she said.

Double-Jack swung a leg over the saddle horn. "Not quite," he said. "Whyn't we go see Matt?"

Celia's back straightened. "I don't guess so," she said quietly and firmly.

"Then go ahead."

"Not without you," he snorted. "Why do you think I brung you out this far, Sis?"

"I'm not going to see Dad," Celia said firmly.

"Look. You got a job, ain't you? You're earnin' your livin', ain't you? You don't have to ask Matt Drury for anything, not even a kind word. All right, he's a lonesome old man. It ain't goin' to hurt you a bit to drop in and say 'Hello' to him and cheer him up. You done it for me that time I had to stay in Doc Bleeker's house with a broke leg. And I wasn't even your dad."

"You needed it."

"So does he. If you're set on bein' onery, why, come along and crow about the job you're holdin'. I don't think you will, though. You'll likely ride in and turn down his offer to come home and tell him you got a job and ask about everything and maybe get a cup of coffee, and you'll feel better and so will he—so what the hell, Sis. Ain't it easy?"

Double-Jack's tone was as close to pleading as it ever got. Celia understood, too, what lay behind it. Double-Jack loved them both, and he was trying to heal a wound that her stubbornness kept open. She considered everything he had said, and found he spoke only the truth. Strangely enough, in this last week she found she had a new kind of pride. It was pride in work, in independence, and her father couldn't take that from her.

"That's more like it," Double-Jack grunted.

They rode on into the darkness, and pulled up and dismounted under the old cottonwoods by the wall. Celia felt a nostalgia for the place, for its quiet beauty and peace. She fought it down as Double-Jack opened the door in the wall and they entered the patio.

There was only one lamp lighted in the house, and it was in the dining room. Thru the double doors, which were open to the night, Celia could see her father at the big dining table eating alone. In spite of herself, something tugged at her throat. He looked so lonely and so old in there.

Double-Jack coughed and led the way across the patio. Drury looked up as Double-Jack entered, and a smile started, and then he saw Celia. He rose, bewilderment and pleasure on his lean face. Some of the fire had been drained from his eyes, but he was still the same figure of power and generosity that Double-Jack had always worshiped.

"Come in, come in, both of you," Drury said. He shook Double-Jack's hand and asked after him, and only then did he turn to Celia and put out his hand. He kissed her cheek, and then gestured to the chairs and called for the maid.

Her father, Celia saw, was carrying it off the way it should be carried off, and she was grateful to him. Celia greeted the maid, whose face was flushed with delight at seeing her, and then Drury ordered two more places set. While Drury talked with Double-Jack and the food was brought in, Celia relaxed. With a new perception, she saw how handsome and spacious this room was, this whole life was. She had lived in it all her life, and it had taken a job as a waitress and a musty little attic room to open her eyes to it.

When Drury had given her plenty of time, he asked quietly, "How's the job, honey?"

Celia was immediately on the defense. But when she looked at her father she understood that he wasn't gloating. "Hard work. Good work. Good food, too."

Drury asked, "She lost you any money, Double-Jack?"

"How's that?"

Double-Jack's jaundiced old eyes lighted up with amusement, but his face was perfectly sober. "Well, whenever a check runs higher than 10 dollars, she's got to take off her shoes to count."

Celia giggled, and Drury put back his head and laughed. And suddenly his laughter ceased and he stared beyond Celia.

"Do I get arrested if I shake hands?" Pearly asked.

GASOLINE ALLEY — SUGAR COATING

According to CULBERTSON

Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I once took my wife rather severely to task for failing to cash immediately her three aces and thereby defeat a five diamond contract. Her opportunity for a somewhat similar criticism [involving an opening lead on my part] arrived recently in the following hand which may appeal to the readers of your interesting column.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	7 diamonds	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"South's seven diamond bid was, in my opinion, atrocious, but I am reporting to you the actual bid. I sat West, and must admit that my double also may be subject to censure, but I knew South's tendencies to stretch bids occasionally.

"I must admit that I was extremely uncomfortable, after having quickly doubled, in realizing that I had to lead. Of course, the burning question was, should I lead the spade ace [which I reasoned South might ruff] and thereby set up the dummy's spade suit for any losers South might have. I finally, after considerable deliberation, and considering my six-suiter in spades and that North had bid spades, opened my singleton trump as probably the least damaging lead for our defense. Of course the contract then was a laydown.

"Perhaps you will consider this hand of sufficient interest to comment upon. A. J. M., New York."

The question whether or not to lead an ace against a slam is truly a baffling one when the contract in question is a small slam, but only under the most outlandish conditions does the same problem arise when the opponents are seeking to take all the tricks.

To begin, I must emphatically state that I do not approve West's double. There is little sense and less percentage in doubling a slam which may or may not be defeated, especially when the doubler does not know what to open. However, in this case, the double having been made, I see no excuse for West's failure to open the spade ace. On the peculiar bidding that took place, why should West have assumed that North's one spade bid represented a long suit? On a pure "probability" basis there was more chance of a five card suit or possibly even a four carder. And normal partnership practice is to bid more when there is at least a slight fit with partner's opening bid, hence presumably South was more likely to have made his remarkable jump to seven diamonds with one or two of his partner's suit than a void in that suit. At any rate, West should have reasoned that if South had a remote idea of what he was doing, he [West] would have to try for his spade trick in a hurry or abandon all chance for it, since it was virtually a cinch that North's hand would provide some other suit upon which South could discard his probable maximum of two spades.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

On the House

If you prefer to keep to the middle of the road in house layout, and yet are undecided whether to have a complete and conventional dining room, or a combination living room-dining room, compromise on a dining alcove screened by folding doors. In this way you can have privacy, when and if you want it, and yet at other times, you have the effect of one beautifully open room.

Refrigerator cookies, sliced from a loaf before baking, and drop cookies have rather spoiled us cooks. They are so easy to make and so good that we sometimes forget and neglect the old-fashioned rolled cookie that grandma used to make. And this is a shame, for the old-fashioned cookie, large and round and sugary, had, and still has, a place all its own in the hearts and appetites of young and old.

It's best not to do too much rolling of rolled cookies, for the more one works with the dough, the less tender the cookies will become. Chilling the dough before rolling is a good practice, because it facilitates rolling, and makes it unnecessary to add surplus flour. Too much flour makes a tough cookie.

SUGAR AND SPICE COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup lard or vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten

Sift dry ingredients together. Cream shortening and sugar thoroly and beat in eggs. Add dry ingredients, mixing to a soft dough. Chill. Roll out to a fourth inch in thickness. Cut with large floured cookie cutter, place on a greased baking sheet and brush over with milk. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for eight to ten minutes.

OLD-FASHIONED GINGER AND MOLASSES COOKIES.

¾ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups molasses
5 tablespoons boiling water
4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening, add molasses and hot water, and blend. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add them. The dough will be very soft. Chill thoroly and roll out to a fourth inch in thickness. Cut and bake on a floured cookie sheet at 350 degrees, moderate oven.

SOUR CREAM BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES.

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
½ cup thick sour cream
4 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
English walnut halves

Cream butter and sugar together thoroly. Add egg and beat well. Add sour cream. Sift flour with dry ingredients and work into creamed mixture. Chill dough and roll out. Cut out cookies, place on lightly floured baking sheet and top each with a walnut half. Bake in 400 degree oven.

BROWN SUGAR COOKIES.

1 cup butter, margarine or vegetable shortening
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups packed brown sugar
3 eggs, beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
3¾ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda

Cream butter, salt, and sugar together thoroly. Add beaten eggs and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Chill and roll to a fourth inch in thickness. Cut out cookies and bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned.

Simplicity Outstanding Charm

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Simplicity is the outstanding charm of this spring dress. It's the type that particularly flatters the mature figure. Fundamentally fashion-correct, this dress allows a great deal of leeway in styling, for its neckline may be V or high, its sleeves long, bracelet length, or short and full. Against this simple basic frock you may wear all kinds of accessories.

Fashion this frock of plain or printed materials, light or dark, and trim it as your fancy dictates. If overweight is your problem, keep adornment down to essentials, because too much trimming calls attention to figure faults.

Style No. 3275 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for cape-sleeved version.

Address order for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Most of us shouldn't trust our color sense too far. It sometimes seems to us that not one woman in a hundred has an educated color eye. And the mistakes we make, in season when color in costume and in makeup runs pretty close to riot, are inclined to defeat the attempt to look smart.

Fashion has been doing its best for us. Matched costume accessories are wonderfully well organized. And the beauty houses are doing better all the time. They're matching or cueing makeup with great cleverness.

One new evidence of their skill in lifting the feminine burden of harmonizing makeup is the recent introduction of a box of three carefully related makeup aids that cost remarkably little and, because the items are color-keyed one to the other, make it easy for the woman to avoid having the tones of her lipstick, powder and nail enamel war with each other.

In the little box is a full sized lipstick [one of our very favorites, too] that you can have in your choice of high fashion shades. The other two items are keyed to the lipstick color and harmonize perfectly with it. There is nail enamel, for one thing. This can be in a tone identical with the lipstick or in a muted shade that harmonizes. There is also a serviceably sized box of face powder; this, too, is carefully blended to a tint that makes it happily harmonious with the two color accents.

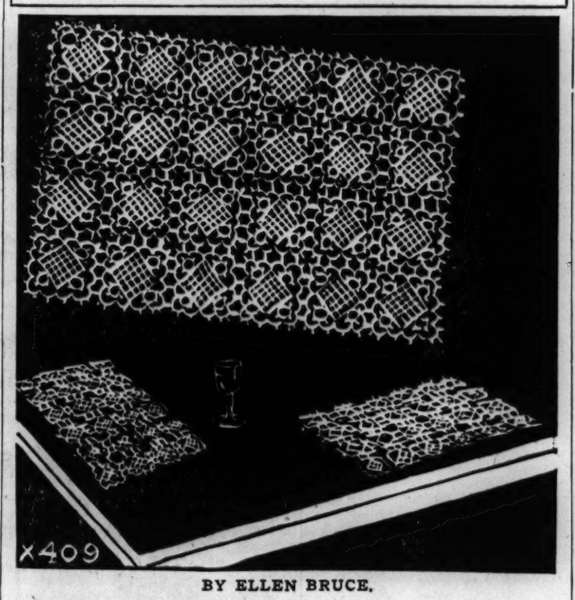
English Design Luncheon Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The simple elegance of a crocheted doily made from an old English design never can be fully appreciated until one sees how handsome it is when completed and set with a table service. The medallions are made and joined as the work progresses. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is most effective on a dark table, while any shade in the rainbow may be used on painted furniture.

For instructions in crocheting the English medallion luncheon set, No. X-409, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Child's First Day Up Must Be Short One

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Altho we recently had a series of articles for mothers about caring for their convalescent children, there still are a few points to be covered, which, I know from experience, may be helpful to the mother who is new at nursing sick little boys or girls.

The child who has been ill in bed and then has been convalescing in bed is not ready to go on full schedule when he first is allowed to get up and dress. That really should go without saying.

If he gets up in the morning at his usual time, and stays up until his usual bedtime, he will be overtired or even exhausted when night comes. You may try to get him to rest two or three times during the day, but he probably won't take to it very agreeably, altho you will, I hope, insist. Still, he resists, because he's had his fill of bed life.

A better plan than this is to shorten the time he is up, by starting his day late and ending it early. To do this give him his breakfast in bed, a little later than usual, if he isn't too hungry. Let him get up at about 10 o'clock. Once up, see that he doesn't keep on his feet all day. After lunch have a short quiet or lying down time, then up and around again.

About 4:30 start a bath and let him have a lazy, perhaps prolonged, tub, with you on the scene, just for sociability. Then pajamas or nightie, a cozy bathrobe, and then bed. Next, just a 15 minute "flop," actually lying down, after that let him be propped up, with a friendly light close by. Then supper on a tray and something pleasant to do or little visits from the family, until actual going to sleep time ends a convalescent's day without undue fatigue.

Iowa Exhibition to Show Art of the Mississippi

Davenport, Ia., March 31 [Special].—More than 100 artists will be represented in an exhibition of Mississippi valley subjects which will be conducted by the Davenport Municipal Art gallery starting Thursday. The exhibition will be called "Art and Artsists Along the Mississippi," and is believed to be the first of its kind.

Artists whose work will be shown include virtually all of those of national and regional reputation who live in cities along the river or in the valley. Many are from Iowa, Illinois, and Missouri.

Much of the exhibition will consist of work of contemporary artists, altho a number of American pioneers will be represented with such subjects as the Currier & Ives lithographs, "Race Between the Robert E. Lee and Natchez," a famous river scene, and "Wooding Up on the Mississippi."

George Caleb Bingham, another art pioneer, will be represented by his picture, "Fishing Along the Mississippi," lent by the Nelson Art gallery of Kansas City, Mo.

Among the contemporaries, Thomas Benton will be represented by "Missouri Musician"; Grant Wood by "Portrait of John B. Turner"; Doris Lee of Aledo, Ill., by "Showboat"; Dale Nichols by "John Comes Home for Christmas"; and Arnold Turtle, John T. Nols, Kenneth Hudson, Jon Corbino, John S. Curry, Charles Millett, and Maria Hull by general subjects including floods, auctions, weddings, industrial scenes, and landscapes.

The Friends of Art, an auxiliary organization of the Davenport gallery, is coöperating with gallery trustees by arranging four successive Thursday evening entertainments during the month. The programs will include dramatic and musical events. The dramatic sketches will depict life in settlements along the Mississippi from the days of the earliest settlers to the present.

The entire exhibit and all entertainments in conjunction will be free and open to the public. The gallery will be open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Mondays; from 2 to 5 p. m. Sundays and at 7:15 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Trustees have invited art lovers from Iowa, Illinois, and nearby states to attend the show.

The Davenport Municipal gallery now contains more than 1,000 art subjects. It was started in 1925 after Charles Augustus Ficke, a lawyer, financier, and world traveler, donated his collection of 334 pictures to the city.

After Mr. Ficke made his donation it was necessary to get legislative authorization for the use of city funds for establishment of the gallery. Many of Mr. Ficke's pictures were bought during his travels in Europe prior to 1900. He died a few years ago and his widow still lives in the family home here.

FORT WAYNE RETAINS U. S. CATHOLIC TITLE

EUROPE'S BOXERS NEAR AMERICA; SPEED DRILLS

NOREN'S SPEED OUTSTANDING IN SHIP WORKOUT

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE VULCANIA, March 31.—Calm weather today gave Europe's amateur boxing champions an opportunity to renew their preparations for the International Golden Gloves matches in Chicago April 10 in the Stadium. As the Vulcania carried them nearer to the American shores, the rough seas subsided and the youngsters showed their appreciation of firm footing by going thru a brisk session of rope skipping, bag punching and shadow boxing while many of the other passengers looked on.

All the boys have recovered from seasickness and are eager to get to New York where they will do some gymnasium work and a little sightseeing before starting for Chicago. The ship is scheduled to dock Tuesday. After a brief stopover the squad will head westward, reaching Chicago Thursday.

Noren Impressive in Drill.

During today's drill Karl Noren, the Swedish middleweight, impressed observers with his agility and quickness. Long hikes with a full pack have given this 22 year old infantryman tremendously powerful and flexible leg muscles, which enable him to bounce around like a Fred Astaire. In taking an extra round of shadow boxing he displayed greater speed than even Flyweight Guido Nardecchia or Bantamweight Ulderico Sergo. The latter apparently hasn't yet entirely recovered his equilibrium after his bout with rough seas.

Noren has been fighting just about as long as any one on the team, but in number of bouts he is a novice compared to some of them. He began boxing in 1934 and at the age of 16 won the Swedish flyweight championship in his sixth official bout. He spent the next three years in military service, boxing occasionally in camp. He returned to amateur competition as a lightweight in 1938, fought as a welterweight last year and is now in his first season as a middleweight.

He's King of Middleweights.

In his six year career, Noren has had only 80 bouts, which is not very many compared, for instance, to Lajos Szigeti, Hungarian light heavyweight, who acknowledges 600. Noren has lost only 12 times. He has never been knocked out. Twenty-five of his 80 fights have taken place in the last 10 months with the loss of only two decisions.

Noren is one of the three sons of a Goteborg police captain. He is the only athlete in the family, tho his father has been so interested in boxing for years that he has induced Swedish authorities to include it in police training. Karl became interested in the sport while watching his father coach patrolmen. It is his second love, his first being the collection of American dance band records and his third being soccer. He is a star inside right on one of the leading Swedish league teams.

He'll Go Into Police Work.

Karl wants two things more than anything else in America—victory in the Chicago bouts and a chance to hear some of the leading orchestras.

Six months ago he was mustered back into Sweden's neutral watch. When he gets his discharge he plans to enter police work. He already has enrolled in a police school of criminology in Stockholm.

Noren has been interested in the police forces of the various countries thru which he has passed on the way from Sweden. While the rest of the squad was taking a look at pineapples growing under glass during the stop at the Azores, Karl was watching the police handle traffic on the docks. He has picked up a few things from his observations, he says, but he really doesn't expect to learn much worth while until he sees New York and Chicago. He has heard tales of the tremendously heavy traffic in the American cities and he is anxious to have a look at it and decide whether his father's police force in Goteborg could handle the situation.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

SEVERAL hundred workmen are pushing completion of Italy's Olympic stadium in which the Fascists expect to hold the 1944 games. . . . The arena, which will accommodate 100,000, was completed in wood for Hitler's visit in Rome two years ago. . . . After a capacity throng had cheered the Nazi leader the pine saucer was torn down and permanent construction resumed. . . . The stadium will be of white marble. . . . Harness horse trainers have been sending their charges thru daily workouts at the state fairgrounds in Syracuse all winter, despite some of the most severe weather in New York state's history. . . . The largest crowd in Big Ten basketball history was the 15,700 who sat in on the Minnesota-Ohio State game in Minneapolis in 1939. . . . Ken Keltner of the Indians batted .417, which was 100 points above his season average, in night games last year. . . . If radio fans notice a change in Charlie Grimm's elocution this summer, chalk it up to the lessons in speech he took during the winter. . . . The two heavyweight prides of Iowa, built into prominence by a series of victories in Des Moines and nearby cities—Johnny Paycheck and Lee Savold—met their fistic Waterloo on succeeding nights. . . . The evening before Paycheck's chin encountered Joe Louis' lethal wallops, Savold was beaten by an unknown in St. Louis. . . .

Few athletes ever have dominated their field so completely as has Joe Louis. . . . He has been a great champion, a credit to his sport, and it appears he soon will have to retire for lack of competition. . . . Professional boxing has fallen to new depths when one of the game's all time greats, defending his title, can draw only 11,620, as was the case in Madison Square Garden Friday night when Louis knocked out Paycheck in the second round. . . . You get some idea of the shoddy entertainment the public is offered when you reflect that Louis' next opponent probably will be Beer Barrel Tony Galento, who was maneuvered into a top position by the simple process of matching him with setups, at least one of whom was paid to throw the bout. . . . Or have you forgotten Harry Thomas' confession? . . . The day Lou Gehrig began his record breaking string with the Yankees, June 1, 1925, Benny Bengough also got his start as the regular catcher and George Pipgras received his first starting assignment on the mound.

Another Hat Recipe.

Take one last year's bird nest, well soaked with water, add three slightly tired Easter eggs and a half dozen second hand geraniums. Stir in two cans of well shredded spinach, garnish with an old paint brush, and if it doesn't come out Aunt Minnie's new hat I'm a Chinaman. —Wud.

Which counts among its members sinful men,
As if the church did not exist to lead
The wayward Christian back to God again;
Did Christ shun Magdalene in holy fear,
Heeding the Scribe's and Pharisee's complaints?
Or did His every word not make it clear
He came to die for sinners, not for saints?
Such churches as refuse a helping hand
To those who from the path of virtue slip,
Who want the universe to understand
But their self-righteousness have sacrificed
The end for which they were ordained by christ.

NICHOLSON HITS 2 HOMERS; DRIVES IN 6; CUBS WIN, 7-6

Sox 4 Run Rally in Ninth Falls Short.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31.—Billy Nicholson, who is temporarily in charge of the Cubs' cleanup chores, cleaned up sufficiently today to slap down the White Sox who, in two previous afternoons had a gay old time with their bats.

Nicholson knocked a pair of homers good for six runs and thus fashioned a lead which survived by 7 to 6, after the American leaguers had drilled the enemy defense for a half dozen runs in the concluding innings. The verdict gave the Cubs a 5 to 4 edge in the transcontinental spring city series.

Nicholson was considerate enough not to heap all his abuse on one man. He divided it equally between the only two Sox pitchers called into action. He hit his first homer with two on in the fifth, to break up a slick act by Rookie Vallie Eaves. Then Clint Brown appeared in the rôle of a finisher and while he finished, he didn't have much luck in the sixth, his first inning of labor. It was in this round that Nicholson exploded his second homer, also with two on, after one mate already had scored.

Root Holds Sox at Bay.

The Sox were sort of pressed for a time because Old Timer Charley Root was among the Cubs in active service. The veteran took care of the first four innings and conducted the party with such speed there was practically no delay because of base hits. Only three were recorded during his term and the same paucity of safe blows was painfully absent during the next three innings against Vern Olsen, the kid southpaw, who has been pictured as a possible addition to a shaky pitching staff. Olsen subsequently experienced such a jousting that assistance was needed.

Olsen went into the eighth with a 7 to 0 lead and had two out of the way because of the fourth twin killing fabricated by his supporting infield. Then the Sox gave him the works. Singles by Julius Solters and

50,000 Roar Lusty Welcome to Hammond Prep Champions

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hammond, Ind., March 31.—A wildly tumultuous throng of 50,000 residents of this thriving northern Indiana city laid siege to a special train of the Monon railroad at noon today. Their attack was successful when they effected the capture of Coach Lou Birkett and his Hammond Tech Tigers, new high school champions of the most basketball crazy state in the Union.

That mania for the hardwood-and-hoop pastime today took the form of the most stupendous civic reception in Hammond's history. Coach Birkett and the kids who last night defeated Mitchell High, 33 to 21, in the state final in Butler university's fieldhouse in Indianapolis, never had a chance. Their victory was the first scored by a northwestern Indiana team in the 30 year career of the tournament.

The celebration started last night as soon as the citizenry learned that the boys from the city's technical high school had come thru in the fieldhouse. The police and street cleaning department worked in double shifts in their efforts to maintain order. Impromptu parades were held in the downtown streets all night. Railroad ties were used as fuel for the bonfires that lighted up seven of the city's more important street intersections.

The line of greeters today began to form in South Hammond. Boys and young men attempted to board the train at that point. One eager fan parked his car across the Monon tracks near Harrison park, causing a five minute delay before the train finally docked at the Sibley street crossing.

The boys who had brought Ham-

MAKI RUNS THIRD TO RICE AND LASH IN RECORD 3 MILE

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31.—Gregory Rice, formerly of Notre Dame, broke his own world's three mile indoor record tonight in Madison Square Garden. In 33 whirling laps around the banked board track Rice thoroly whipped Taisto Maki of Finland, holder of the world's outdoor record of 13:42.4.

A near capacity crowd of 14,000 watched the climactic three mile race in which Don Lash, formerly of Indiana university, also beat out the Flying Finn, who finished third.

Making a tremendous finishing sprint, Rice ran only a fraction over 60 seconds for the final quarter in winning the international race the National A. A. U. had arranged for the Finnish relief fund. Rice's new indoor record is 13:52.3, over three seconds faster than the mark of 13:55.9 he made on this track this winter.

Maki 30 Yards in Rear.

Rice whipped Lash by 20 yards and Maki by 30, swinging into the lead on the back stretch of the 31st lap and widening the gap with his famous short, sprinting stride. Back of him, in third place, at the start of the 31st lap after twice taking the lead and losing it, was Lash. The tall Hoosier passed the Finn near the end. Lash's time was 13:55 and Maki's 13:56.8. Joe McCluskey of New York, the other starter, was fourth.

Maki had the consolation, however, of breaking the world indoor records for 2½ and 2¾ miles, as he led the race at these distances. He was timed in 11:40 for the 2½ miles [former record was 11:45.8] and 12:51.9 for the 2¾ miles [former record was 12:57.9]. Both of the old marks were hung up by Willie Ritola of Finland in 1925.

Rice Makes His Move.

Despite the shifting leadership, few doubted that Rice would be the victor. Despite Lash's two spurts the decision rested on Maki. Rice was primarily concerned with the Finnish champion, whom his coach, Paavo Nurmi, had declared in shape for

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind., still is the nation's Catholic high school basketball champion, but the Hoosiers' reign appeared at an end until the last two minutes of last night's game with St. Michael's of Santa Fe, N. M., in the finals of the 17th annual tournament in Loyola gymnasium. The champions scored three successive baskets in those remaining minutes to turn back the southwestern squad, 35 to 33.

As a delegation of Fort Wayne's followers in the crowd of 3,800 cheered their every move, Capt. Edmund Stanczak, the Hoosiers' towering center, and Ed Klotz, little guard, brought Fort Wayne its second consecutive championship, the third quintet to accomplish the feat. Stanczak, who had had difficulty breaking thru the St. Michael defense for 30 minutes of the game, sank two field goals and Klotz slipped in one to win the title.

Hiller Gets 21 Points.

Santa Fe, holders of the New Mexico state championship, surprised the Hoosiers by taking an early lead on the sharp shooting of their star forward, John [Buster] Hiller. The quintet from the desert city took the lead at the quarter, 9 to 5; held a 20 to 16 advantage at the half, and 29 to 24 at the third period.

Hiller contributed eight field goals and five free throws, all being scored in the first three periods with the exception of one free toss. The 21 points boosted Hiller's total to 85. Stanczak, hero of the 1939 championship game against Leo, of Chicago, sank six baskets and three free throws against St. Michael's, bringing his total to 88 points for five tournament games.

Leo, eliminated by the Hoosiers in the semifinal round Saturday night, 51 to 42, won third place in the tournament by defeating the Indian team from St. Francis Mission, S. D., 44 to 25, in a game which preceded the championship affair. Stan Patrick led the Chicagoans with five baskets and one free throw.

Santa Fe Starts Fast.

Hiller scored three field goals and one free throw in the first quarter against Fort Wayne. During this period Stanczak was held to one free throw by Hiller and Thomas Irigoyan. Only Fort Wayne's Edward Dehner and Robert Heiny were successful on field goal attempts in the period.

Hiller and his partner at forward, Sam Ortiz, one of the two Spaniards on the team, kept New Mexico in the lead during the second period, Hiller with two baskets and Ortiz with two. However, Stanczak, Heiny, and Klotz kept the Hoosiers within striking distance as the half ended. During the period Stanczak connected for three field goals.

Stanczak Wins Game.

While Stanczak went scoreless in the third period, Klotz took the giant center's rôle by slipping in three long shots. Robert Walker, substitute forward, also scored a basket for Fort Wayne, but Hiller was having no trouble finding the range and he assured Santa Fe of a 28 to 24 lead at the conclusion of the quarter with three more baskets and two free throws.

Stanczak opened the thrill-packed fourth quarter with a basket and Nick Leto added another. Stanley Gallup, Santa Fe guard, sank a free throw and then connected with a basket. Stanczak and Hiller each made free throws and Santa Fe led, 33 to 29. Stanczak reduced the New Mexico lead with a short shot, then Klotz tied the score with a field goal from the middle of the court. With exactly one minute to go Stanczak sank the winning basket. Lineups:

MR. BEHR TELLS GOLDEN GLOVERS: BEWARE OF FOES

Coach Cites Experience, Spirit of Europeans.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Johnny Behr, coach of the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team, yesterday outlined the tremendous task the boys will face when they meet the amateur champions of Europe in the International matches in the Stadium a week from Wednesday. Maturity, experience, and a strong nationalistic spirit are a few of the points which will count heavily on the side of the invaders.

"We always take the attitude that when one of our boys loses that's all there is to it," Behr said. "He's tried, he's done his best but he's been beaten. He's just overmatched himself and there's no disgrace connected with it. It's just a sporting venture for our boys.

They Dislike Losing.

"With the Europeans it's different. When one of them loses he's embarrassed in no uncertain terms. It's instilled in him that every bout is a national issue. He's convinced that the honor of his country is seriously involved. He feels he's got to win. That sort of a spirit is hard to put down. It keeps a boxer going when ordinarily he'd be ready to give up.

"We have to deal differently with our boys. We must use judgment and psychology, varying it, depending on individual characteristics. Some of them need only a pep talk. Others require something more subtle."

He then turned to the matter of maturity.

"We're up against a well developed bunch of fighters. Whereas many of our youngsters are 17 and 18 years old, a lot of the Europeans are in their late twenties. Most of them are army men or tradesmen. A fellow of 28 can absorb a lot of punishment and keep coming back, whereas a boy isn't seasoned enough for that sort of thing. In a sport such as boxing, which is strictly contact, the ability to take punishment without being worn down often makes all the difference between winning and losing."

Cites Difference in Experience.

"Look at those fellows—Ulderico Sergo, Guido Nardecchia, Olle Tandberg—they were fighting in the 1936 Olympic games before most of our boys were even thinking of taking up boxing. Egisto Peire and Eric Agren both beat good boxers in our Internationals last year.

"In Europe conditions are so different than they are here that boxers remain amateurs for a long time. Here they either go into business and forget about boxing or else they turn pro. Think of the team we could send into the ring if we had some of the best boys of recent years available. We'd have Johnny Brown, Andy Scrivani, Altus Allen—why we'd even have Joe Louis if we went back as far as the Europeans do for some of their amateur fighters."

Rice sprinted past Maki on the back stretch of the next to last lap. He steadily increased his lead as the crowd stood cheering his final effort. Since Maki's time for two and three-quarters miles was 12:51.9 and Rice won the race in 13:52.3, the Irish star covered the final quarter in approximately a minute.

Eight Records Fall.

Eight records were broken in the meet. Three were included in the three mile race.

Al Blozis, Georgetown university, broke three shot marks with the 8, 12, and 16 pound missiles. He threw the 16 pound shot 55 feet 1 inch, the 12 pound shot 65 feet, and the 8 pounder 78 feet ¼ inch.

Allen Tolmich, former Wayne university [Detroit] hurdler, accounted for the other two records. He broke the 70 yard high hurdle mark in 8 4-10 seconds, and then took the 60 yard low hurdles in the phenomenal time of 6 seconds. This is as fast as the distance has been run indoors without the handicap of the hurdles.

Fenske Beats Schwarzkopf.

Chuck Fenske, America's premier miler, won the special mile and a half race. Altho Walter Mehl, Wisconsin teammate of Fenske, made the early pace, the battle was between Fenske and Ralph Schwarzkopf, Michigan senior. Gene Venzke finished third. Schwarzkopf passed Fenske at the start of the last lap, after Fenske had led after the first quarter, but Chuck spurted to regain the advantage on the back stretch. Fenske won by three yards, and his time was 6:39.4.

St. Columbanus Wins Girls' Basketball Tournament

St. Columbanus yesterday won the St. Andrew's girls' invitational basketball tournament by defeating St. Mathias, 24 to 13, in the finals in the St. Andrew's church gymnasium. The winners received the Bishop B. J. Shell trophy. St. Vincent's defeated St. Bernardine, 19 to 13, for third place. In the consolation finals, St. Andrew's No. 1 team won from St. Andrew's No. 2, 27 to 18.

McCoy Faces Pallatin in Ring Tonight

Young Kid McCoy, Detroit welterweight, who is undefeated in eight previous Chicago appearances, will face the hardest test of his career in a 10 round bout against Tommy Pallatin of St. Joseph, Mich., in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

McCoy has never boxed more than eight rounds before and this may weaken his chances against the rugged, aggressive Pallatin, who was a member of the 1937 international Golden Gloves team. Tommy will be searching for his fifth consecutive victory, Bobby Britton, Milo Theodroescu, Tony Yates, and George Kontopolis falling victim to the Michigan fighter's skill in recent weeks.

Al Tibbits, former Danville sectional Golden Gloves middleweight winner, will oppose Earl Peterson of Appleton, Minn., in a five round semi-final. Tibbits has won nine straight decisions since turning professional a year ago. An additional match of five rounds will bring together Leonard Bennett, Detroit 148 pounder, and Tito Taylor. Bennett will be making his first local start since going down for the count against Milt Aron in the same arena last Oct. 30.

Jack Conley, Boston heavyweight wrestler, and Charley [Gorilla] Grubmeyer will top this evening's mat card in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . Pete Lello, Gary lightweight contender, has opened training in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round rematch against Tony Marteliano in Madison Square Garden May 17. Lello held Marteliano to an eight round draw in a recent battle, for which he collected $1,750. . . . Promoter Alex Veck has completed arrangements for the first show of the year in White City Friday. Three matches of eight rounds are being featured between Willie Joyce, 1937 Golden Gloves featherweight champion, and Nick Castiglione; Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, and Phil Saeli, and Indian Billy Lee, Milwaukee welterweight, and Jack Cooper.

HALL DEFEATS RUBIN, 50 TO 45, IN WORLD CUE MEET

Allen Hall of Chicago went into a triple seventh place tie in the world three cushion billiard tournament in Bensinger's South Wabash Avenue rooms last night by defeating Arthur Rubin of New York, 50 to 45, in 52 innings.

The defeat made the cellar berth definite for Rubin, who has lost 15 of his 19 starts, and has only one game remaining on his schedule. With the score tied at 45-all in the 50th inning Hall put together two consecutive runs of three and two.

In the other match, Welker Cochran of San Francisco defeated Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, 50 to 27, in 47 innings. Cochran, in winning his 10th victory, had a high run of six. It was Chamaco's ninth defeat.

Tonight Willie Hoppe will try for his 15th straight victory. He needs only two more to clinch the title. Hoppe's opponent will be Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia.

HOGAN SETS GOLF RECORD TO LEAD WINTER CIRCUIT

Asheville, N. C., March 31 (AP).—Ben Hogan, 27 year old, 139 pound professional of White Plains, N. Y., moved into first place among the money winners in the winter golf circuit today by winning the $1,200 first prize in the $5,000 Land of Sky open tournament with a 72 hole score of 273.

It was Hogan's third tournament victory within two weeks, during which time he played 216 holes in 34 strokes under par for one of the most sensational records in the history of competition sanctioned by the Professional Golfers' Association of America. He broke par on 11 of his last 12 rounds, on which he scored 69 or better 10 times, and had only two three-putt greens.

This record includes his victories in the North and South open and Greensboro open tournaments. The three triumphs netted him $3,400 as he passed Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., in winter earnings. His purses now total $6,438 to $6,152 for Demaret. Here's how Hogan played his last 12 rounds: 66—67—74—70—69—68—66—67—67—68—69—69.

Hogan won today by a three stroke margin over Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, who led at the half way mark yesterday with 135, one shot in front of Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill.

I AIN'T. BUT HE'S BRINGING HIS BRIDE OVER, AND THAT'LL BE A SIGHT TO SEE.
WELL, I HOPE YOU GET ALONG WITH HER, SOCIALLY.

YOU SAY, MARY X" LED YOU TO THE BODY, BUT THAT'S ALL SHE REMEMBERS?
RIGHT! WE DON'T KNOW WHO HE IS, BUT WE'RE SURE OF ONE THING—HE MET HIS DEATH IN THE MACHINE SHOP OF MASON AND FREEZ.
WHY, EVEN THE SOLES OF HIS SHOES AND THE KNEES OF HIS TROUSERS HAVE THOSE SAME LITTLE PIECES OF METAL IN THEM THAT WE FOUND IN YOUR SHOES AFTER YOU'D WALKED THROUGH THAT PLANT.
BY THE WAY, CHIEF, IN THIS FIRM OF MASON AND FREEZ, WHO IS FREEZ? WHERE IS HE?
GOSH, TRACY, THE ONLY MEMBER OF THAT FIRM I KNOW IS MASON. I NEVER MET FREEZ.
I THINK I'LL CALL ON MR. MASON ONCE MORE.

Sox Rally Falls Short in Ninth; Cubs Win, 7-6

Jimmy Webb and a double by Larry Rosenthal scored two runs which were considered harmless. In the ninth Olsen walked a couple and a dinky hit loaded the bases so he was extracted in favor of Dick Bass. The rescuer finally reached the finish line but not until after more hits by Solters and Webb had piled up a four run rally. Two more lads were on the bases when Pinch Hitter Taft Wright flied out to end the show.

Eaves had one man out of the way in the fifth before the Cubs cooked up the mess that resulted in three runs. Herman singled to left and stole second just ahead of a pass awarded to Galan. Then Nicholson arched his first homer over the right field fence for three runs.

Brown found action as soon as he reported for work in the sixth. Rogell singled to center and Olsen sacrificed. Hack was set down on a grounder to Kuhel. Herman whacked a single into center, sending Rogell across the plate. Herman stole second just ahead of a pass to Galan. Then Nicholson repeated his fifth inning feat by hoisting his second homer over the right field barrier.

Sox Come to Life.

Olsen, who got by successfully for three innings, despite passes and hits, exhausted his run of luck in the eighth and was nailed for two runs. Leiter singled and was doubled on Kreevich's tap. The Sox made a fresh start. Solters singled and Webb did the same. The latter hit was fumbled by Dallessandro, so Solters scored and Webb went to second. The two run splurge was completed when Webb scored on Rosenthal's double to right.

Olsen threw out Turner to start the ninth and was shortly on his way to extinction. Gerlach batted for Brown and walked. McNair, who had supplanted Kolloway at second, also walked. Leiter dropped a single in short right, filling the bases. This was where Bass came in. He dispatched Kreevich on a fly to right, Gerlach scoring. Solters singled to left and McNair registered. Webb doubled to right center, sending Leiter and Solters home. Rosenthal was purposely passed and Wright was sent forth to swing for Kennedy, but he flied to Dallessandro.

Grabiner Says Sox Appear to Be Improved

The Chicago White Sox of 1940 should be better than the Sox of 1939 because of more reserves and a flaming fighting spirit.

These observations were made by a sun tanned little man who has seen south side teams, good, bad, and indifferent, pass by for more than two decades. The little man is Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Sox, who returned to Chicago yesterday after watching Manager Jimmy Dykes' athletes since spring training started.

Grabiner's enthusiasm at performances by rookies was tempered with caution born of long experience.

"Several of the newcomers look like they have what it takes," he said. "But they can't be given final judgment until they meet the test of major league play. Dykes never becomes enthusiastic over rookies until he sees them in championship play. But I might say he is more than a little excited over what some of them may do."

The Sox business office chief was impressed with Tom Turner, young Houston catcher who was overlooked in the draft by the parent St. Louis Cardinals.

Don Kolloway, second baseman, and Bob Kennedy, third baseman, were described as fellows who appear to have the necessary speed, size, and mechanical ability to make good in the big league.

"Julius Solters, I believe, will approach his form of 1936 when he batted in 134 runs for Cleveland," Grabiner declared. "Taft Wright also should strengthen the outfield. Sure, he's inclined to weight, but he can move down the base line and is far from slow in the outfield."

MacQUINN TAKES 100 LAP MIDGET TITLE EVENT

Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis won the 100 lap championship midget auto race last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory before an overflow crowd. MacQuinn beat out Teddy Duncan to take the lead on the first lap and from then on to the half way mark fought off the challenges of Wally Zale and Duncan.

The time for the championship race was 21:49.21 with Zale finishing second in 21:56.52. Paul Russo of New York was third.

SPARTA SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS MILWAUKEE, 8-1

The Sparta Falstaffs warmed for next Sunday's western semifinal in the national soccer cup playoffs by defeating the Hungarian All-Stars of Milwaukee yesterday, 8 to 1, in Sparta stadium. The Falstaffs' semifinal foe will be the Morgan Sport club of Pittsburgh.

Despite the absence of Jimmy Wolf, star winger, who is disabled with a fractured knee, the Falstaffs had no trouble after breaking a 1 to 1 tie in the first seven minutes of play and ran up a 4 to 1 advantage at half time. George Papp scored Milwaukee's only goal. For the Falstaffs, Jimmy McDermott scored three, Billy Fraser and Frank Trimmell two each, and Al Waldrom one.

50,000 Greet Prep Winners at Hammond

mond its greatest athletic honor—Capt. Stan Shimala, Bob Kramer, John Thomas, Mike Bicanic, and Richard Haack—knew that a reception was in store for them but were unprepared for the magnitude of the one that greeted them.

Enjoy Chicken Dinner.

At South Hammond A. V. Zimmerman, faculty manager of athletics at Hammond Tech, boarded the train and returned to Coach Birkett the championship trophy which had been brought back last night by Principal Frederick Benson. Thruout the four hour trip from Indianapolis none of the boys would yield, even for examination, the personal replicas of the title trophy each received for his work last night.

When the train finally stopped at Sibley street it was almost impossible for strangers attempting to alight to do so, so tightly packed were the streets leading to the tracks. Banners of welcome floated above the cheering throng, and nearly every auto had been painted with a special greeting, the most individual one being, "Yea, Tech! We Prayed! You Played!"

Ride on Fire Truck.

Coach Birkett, Milt Wilson, Tech football coach; Trainer De Camp, and the players finally were freed from the clutches of their admirers and deposited atop a hook and ladder truck. Three bands—one from Hammond Tech, another from Hammond High, and a third from the local American Legion post—then joined the fire wagon and hundreds of cars in a parade thru town which lasted for more than two hours.

Hammond Tech's victory was one of the most dramatic in Indiana prep history. Students bent on attending college ultimately are rare at Tech. Most of the boys are interested in learning a trade, and Tech supplies them with the foundation and training for same. They represent a variety of racial backgrounds.

John Thomas, the slick ball handler of the team, is a Negro. Capt. Shimala and John Gaul are Poles, Bob Kramer and the Haack brothers are of German descent, and Bicanic is a Croatian-American. Birkett loses only two of this year's quintet—Thomas and Bicanic.

Classes will be dismissed tomorrow morning and all students will gather in the Parthenon theater at a pep rally to honor the new champions.

BRYANT TESTS HIS ARM AGAIN IN CUBS-SOX GAME

Hayes Leaves for Chicago for Treatment.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31.—Clay Bryant will make his third comeback test when he goes against the White Sox in Bisbee tomorrow. To make sure that the test will have major league aspects, Manager Jim Dykes will send Johnny Rigney forth as his starting pitcher.

Jackie Hayes, thoroly recovered from the leg trouble which has handicapped him so much the last season and a half, left tonight for Chicago to undergo special treatments for an injured optic nerve.

Sox and Cubs and scribblers accompanying them are set for anything in Bisbee tomorrow, April Fool's day. Those waggish copper miners can think up more practical jokes than any tenderfoot ever heard of.

The Sox and Cubs soon are to part company, not to join up until they meet in Comiskey park, April 12. After their date in Bisbee tomorrow they go to El Paso, Tex., for games Tuesday and Wednesday, then split up, the Sox going to meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in Lubbock, Tex., and the Cubs going to San Antonio to catch up with the St. Louis Browns at their training base there. A week from today the Cubs and Browns will be starting a road trip in Fort Worth.

Manager Gabby Hartnett, who hasn't strained himself any in exercises since he left Catalina Island, has begun to step up the pace somewhat. Unless the Cubs run into a lot of bum weather when they head north, the boss man should be ready to catch the opener in Cincinnati on April 16.

Last year in the Sunday game here an overflow crowd surged on the field, blocking off the right fielders, and even crowding the first and third basemen. Today there was more than enough room in the stands for one and all. The Cubs were defending champions a year ago.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

INDUSTRY READY TO BATTLE FOR PRIVATE RIGHTS

Seeks 'Mobilization' of Manufacturers.

Lancaster, Pa., March 31 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers called on American industrialists tonight to "mobilize" in a country-wide campaign for the principle of private enterprise.

H. W. Prentis Jr.

H. W. Prentis Jr., association president, sounded the keynote by asserting that "henceforth industry will decline to turn the other cheek. It will meet unjustified attacks with undeniable facts, always courteously, but nonetheless militantly and decisively."

Expect to Enlist 40,000.

Prentis said 8,000 members of the association would enlist 40,000 other manufacturers in a drive to impress on the American mind this one element:

"The fundamental American principle that private enterprise is inseparably linked with our representative democracy and traditional civil and religious liberties."

Industry and private enterprise, he asserted, "will never be fully understood as long as the confidence destroying attacks of demagogic detractors are allowed to go unchallenged." He described private enterprise, together with civil and religious liberties, as "the tripod of freedom."

Thruout the ages, these three institutions have gone hand in hand," Prentis said. "They are inseparable. When one goes all go. The spiritual principle of the sanctity of the individual soul is the foundation of our entire American system of government, economics, and civil and religious liberty."

Nation-wide Program.

Prentis said that "this mobilization for understanding of private enterprise is a nation-wide program of and by manufacturers—but for America."

He said the movement originated "in the deep rooted conviction that economic progress for America can come only under a system of private enterprise and private enterprise can function for progress only when there is sound public understanding of the fundamentals of the private enterprise system — fundamentals from which the nation cannot deviate and still progress."

"Industry is convinced," he continued, "that much of the economic stagnation in which this country has been wallowing results directly from an attitude of covert or open hostility to private enterprise on the part of many persons of high and low degree.

"Under national economic planning, he asserted, "you would have here eventually just what you see in the dictator controled countries in Europe today: The suppression of all teaching except that which is in line with the general ideas of the government; censorship of the press; the end of freedom of expression; the destruction of religious liberty."

AS STEEL GOES, SO GOES STOCK MARKET TRADE

New York, April 1 (AP).—Grabbing at straws in the spring business currents, Wall street gossip mills last week brought up an old saying: As steel goes, so goes the market!

This ancient saw applies chiefly to the stock market, where the steels long were looked to for leadership on the rise and fall of the economic cycle.

Steel shares, last week, flashed to the front of a minor play for the rise in the stock market following a surprise announcement at mid-week of a $1 common stock dividend by the United States Steel corporation.

TRUCK CARGOES TO BE INSURED BY SYNDICATE

Ten mutual fire insurance companies with combined assets of $45,204,712 yesterday announced, thru the American Mutual Alliance, Chicago, the formation of a syndicate to insure the cargoes of national motor freight operators. The syndicate will be known as Mutual Cargo Pool and will operate from headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The syndicate was designed to meet the increased demand for cargo insurance resulting from interstate commerce commission regulations and insurance requirements of various states.

MAKE WAGE ACT PROBE EVEN IF IT IS NOT ASKED

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—The wage-hour division announced today that henceforth it would inspect firms for possible violation of the minimum wage provision regardless of whether a complaint was received.

When an employer complained he could not comply with the law, because his competitors were not abiding by it, Fleming said, the division regarded that a complaint and inspected the competitor.

"Now that our field force is growing," Fleming said, "We will carry out a policy of protecting the complying employer whether or not he wishes to make a complaint against his competitors."

STEEL MILLS CUT PRODUCTION, BUT DROP IS SMALL

Cleveland, O., March 31 (AP).—The production slump in the steel industry has been resumed, altho the operations curve is showing "signs of flattening," the magazine Steel reported today. A week ago the decline was arrested with the rate remaining unchanged, but during last week output fell 1½ points to 61 per cent of estimated capacity.

"Whatever changes in demand for steel products may be under way they are too slight to indicate a trend or quicken production," Steel said. "Orders for commoner products have tended to improve recently, but the gain has not been significant."

The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, Mansfield, O., yesterday announced an increase in tire prices, ranging from 5 to 7½ per cent. The increase applies on both passenger car and truck tires. G. W. Stephens, president, said, "These advances are fully justified in view of the increased cost of materials."

ENTIRE SILVER SCHEME REPEAL BELIEVED NEED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Even after the administration's foreign silver buying law is repealed Mexico will continue to receive financial aid from the United States on silver produced south of the border, Senator John G. Townsend Jr. [R., Del.], leading foe of the foreign silver subsidy, said tonight.

Townsend's bill to repeal that section of the silver purchase act of 1934 which instructs the treasury to purchase foreign silver at the market price—which has been raised by government buying—has been approved by the senate banking and currency committee. The bill's foes within the administration have conceded that it will be passed by both the senate and house. Townsend's statement tonight was interpreted as a recommendation that the whole silver program be shelved if foreign aid is to be stopped effectively.

Purpose of Proposal.

"My proposal to end the buying of foreign silver is motivated solely by our national self-interest as I see it," Townsend said. "It antedates and is not inspired by Mexico's spectacular seizures of American properties, a notable new example of which has just been reported."

The senator referred to the Mexican presidential decree last week which deprived three American corporations of 1,500,000 acres of land held in Mexico. The Mexican government claimed that title to the lands was not valid and therefore the owners deserved no compensation. Similar action had been taken previously against American oil holdings in Mexico.

"Under the circumstances, of course, it does not seem called for that we should go out of our way to confer benefits on Mexico," Townsend continued. "It is important, nonetheless, to realize that even complete repeal of the silver purchase act of 1934 would not destroy Mexico's income from silver.

Domestic Program Unchanged.

"For one thing, there is a separate American silver statute, enacted by congress last July, under which all of our domestic newly mined silver is acquired by the treasury at 71 cents an ounce. My silver repeal bill in no way touches the domestic program, a fact of considerable importance to Mexican silver interests."

Townsend said, therefore, that the treasury's acquisition of all domestically produced silver means that it will continue to take off the market more than one-fifth of the world's production of silver.

"Mexico, as the world's largest producer of silver, will thus continue to receive very direct support from the American domestic silver program," he said. "If we stop entirely the treasury buying of foreign silver, including Mexican, it does not follow that this country thereby withdraws itself as a market for Mexican silver.

"In 1939 the arts and industries here [and in Canada] consumed 34 million ounces of foreign silver. Since they would have to pay at least 71 cents an ounce for American domestic mined silver, it is obvious that industries will continue to buy foreign silver exclusively."

America to Have World's Best Fleet, Says Maritime Board

Washington, D. C., March 31 [Special].—A merchant fleet superior to any other in the world will be ready to make this country's bid for a dominant place in world commerce when the European war ends, a survey of maritime commission shipbuilding activities, published today, indicated.

The nation's shipbuilding industry has attained the greatest peace time volume of work in its history as a result of the building program, the report said. This is exclusive of naval construction which, if added, would make the volume the largest since the foundation of the government.

Plan More Big Vessels.

When normal overseas trade is again the order of the day the United States will possess a thoroly modern merchant fleet as a result, the report said, with 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 tons of passenger and cargo ships plying to all parts of the world.

The American marine program includes ships of every type. The first of the liner class, the America, is soon to be commissioned. Contracts for the construction of a fleet of great transPacific liners, largest and fastest ever built for that trade, will be signed in the near future, according to the report.

At present the merchant marine tonnage for which contracts have been let represents a total of approximately 1,500,000 tons, of which 27 ships have been completed and are in commission. Others will follow in increasing numbers during this and succeeding years.

Year Ahead of Schedule.

In January, 1938, the maritime commission fixed a 10 year goal of 50 ships a year. Today the program is nearly one year ahead of schedule, the survey said, the number of ships contracted for at the end of 1939 being 141. When other ships being built to the account of private operators are added, the tonnage is in excess of 1,300,000.

Federal and private contracts executed since the beginning of the year bring the total approximately 1,400,000 tons, all of it for the transocean trades. The smallest ship on building ways is 6,750 tons and the largest—the America—is 34,000 tons.

Investors' Guide

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

WHY THIRTY-SECONDS?

Why are government bonds quoted in 32ds? When did this practice start?—K. V.

Answer: Price fluctuations in government bonds were recorded in 1-50th of a dollar or 20 cents per $1,000 bond until March 22, 1923, when the New York Stock exchange adopted the current practice quoting prices in 32ds. It was believed that 1/32ds would be more easily understood because investors were already familiar with ⅛ changes in stock transactions.

The 1/32d fluctuation is considered a more accurate reflector of changes in the market. If ⅛ were used, the price of many government bonds might not change for several days because of their general stability.

Fractions smaller than 1/32ds are sometimes quoted in the over-the-counter market for treasury bills and maturing treasury notes. In this market, where the bulk of the trading in governmental issues is conducted, quotations are often made in 1/64ths.

As with other bonds on which interest is paid periodically, quoted prices of government bonds do not include accrued interest, which must be added to the market price to arrive at the actual selling price. Before Jan. 2, 1909, quoted prices of government loans included the accrued interest.

TREASURY GOLD.

Answer: When the treasury buys gold bullion at the current price of $35 a fine troy ounce, the method of payment takes the following steps:

1. The treasury takes possession of the gold and issues a check in payment for it.

2. The seller of the gold deposits the check at his bank, which credits the amount to his account.

3. The bank deposits the check in the Federal Reserve bank and receives credit in its reserve account.

4. The Federal Reserve bank charges the check to the balance which the treasury maintains with it.

5. The treasury replenishes this balance by depositing gold certificates in the Federal Reserve bank.

BOOK VALUE.

How do you find the book value of a stock?—C. J.

Answer: The book value of a share of stock is computed by adding the stated or par value of the capital stock, the surplus and other undivided profits. Divide the total of these by the number of shares of common stock outstanding after deducting the liquidating values of the preferred stocks in order of their priority.

EXPECT SHIP LINE BENEFITS IF U. S. STAYS NEUTRAL

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—The Foreign Policy association said today that American shipowners, despite the restrictions placed on shipping operations by the neutrality act, may come out of the war in an improved financial condition"—if the United States remains neutral.

A report made public by the association, a privately financed research organization, said that since the outbreak of the war 90 American vessels, totaling 364,014 tons, have been sold and transferred to foreign registry.

Losses suffered by ship owners due to the neutrality act, the report said, "were at least partially offset by gains in other directions."

Meanwhile, the Coal Exporters' association complained that lack of ships was "seriously hampering the export trade" in coal.

TRADE PROSPECT 'FAVORABLE, BUT NOT CONVINCING'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31.—Despite the uncertainties of war abroad and the election year, the business outlook in the United States is favorable—"tho not enough to be convincing"—according to a survey of business conditions in the April issue of Banking, to be issued tomorrow.

The magazine, official organ of the American Bankers' association, says that altho business is to a large degree politically neutral, the usual election year unsteadiness is present. However, it continues, the chief obstacle to a better trend is that business awaits answers to the questions on how the war, if it is pressed intensively, will affect domestic life.

Labor Federation Places Unemployed at 10,572,000

Washington, D. C., March 31 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor estimated today that the total of unemployed in February was 10,572,000, a figure which President William Green said showed that 'employment gains of last fall have not been lost." The February figure was a reduction of 613,000 from a year ago and slightly lower than the 10,656,000 estimated for January of this year.

American Brake Shoe Buys Great Lakes Forge Co.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry company purchased the Great Lakes Forge company of Chicago, W. B. Given Jr., president of the brake shoe company, reported yesterday.

Seven New Coal Barges Ordered by Chicago Firm

Production of pork during March was approximately 20 per cent larger than a year ago and prices of fresh pork loins declined about 20 per cent during the month, the Institute of American Meat Packers announced today. Wholesale prices of other fresh pork changed little during the month, the institute said.

ALUMINUM CO. 1939 BUSINESS SETS NEW PEAK

The Aluminum Company of America yesterday reported 1939 production, sales, and shipments were largest in the company's history. Net income was $36,633,389, equal, after allowing for one year's dividends on the preferred stock, to $19.77 per share on the 1,472,625 shares of common stock. Net earnings in 1938 totaled $15,563,145, equal after preferred dividends to $5.13 a common share.

Roy A. Hunt reports big foreign demand.

During the year the company acquired 80,000 shares of senior stock, indicating an outlay, with a $737,500 premium, of $8,737,500. It has been retiring the preferred stock since 1931, reducing the outstanding shares from 1,472,625 to 1,252,581.

Foreign Demand Is Heavy.

Arthur V. Davis, chairman, and Roy A. Hunt, president, reported to stockholders the record production and sales were "due partly to increased domestic demand and partly to an extraordinary" European demand. Sales reduced aluminum inventories 22 per cent during the year.

The company spent approximately 10 million dollars for new construction in 1939 and stated current expansions call for spending about 30 million dollars more, which includes building a plant at Vancouver, Wash. A new bauxite development in Surinam, South America, has been started to provide ore for the increased output, the report said.

Total assets of the company were placed at $251,421,189, including current assets of $82,979,212. Current liabilities were $30,668,562.

Rail's Tax Burden Grows.

Taxes continue one of the heaviest burdens on railroad operation, E. J. Engel, president of the Santa Fe railway, indicated in his annual report for 1939. The road's tax bill increased from $10,476,179 in 1935 to $15,484,669 in 1939. The 1938 bill was $14,988,200.

A large part of the increases in the last five years resulted from the passage of the federal social security act, effective Jan. 1, 1936, and the supplemental state unemployment insurance acts. Last year taxes levied against the road under these measures totaled $4,427,342.

Engel said that state "sales and use" taxes and taxes levied for the expenses of regulatory commissions also have added to the road's tax load.

Drouth Effects Felt.

March 31, 1940.

EFFECTS of the long drouth last fall still are showing up in the fields and woods at the Du Page county farm. The subsoil is dry and crumbly. Workers had trouble last week moving some elm and catalpa shade trees to new locations because the soil was so dry that most of it crumbled off the roots as the trees were dug.

Some of the trees were moved last December, but the work was abandoned until spring because of the dry soil. The practice is to leave large balls of earth in place around the roots, wrapping the balls with burlap and lacing them with rope. This is hard to do when the soil is dry. The workers had hoped there would be plenty of moisture in the soil this spring.

Ground Still Frozen.

The ground still is frozen in some places. There are spots with no frost at all and others where the frost is 6 inches deep.

The men prefer to move shade trees in the fall before the ground freezes. They say the soil usually is easier to work then and that it has all winter to settle around the roots of the trees, giving them a better chance to start growth in the spring.

The trees are watered heavily as they are set. This is to allow the soil to settle closer around the roots and force excess air out of the open spaces, or pockets, in the soil. Too much air space around the roots tends to dry them out. After the trees are watered they are mulched with strawy manure to help hold moisture during the summer.

Each tree is pruned severely after it is set, to balance the top with the root system. Since a large portion of the root system is cut away when the tree is taken up for transplanting, the top is cut back so the limited number of roots will furnish enough plant food for the top growth. The trees often die unless the tops are cut back.

When the soil is in good condition for working, the men find it easy to dig up small trees in the woods and set them on lawns and along the farm lanes. This can be done at odd times without interfering with the regular farm work.

Steam Bath for Tractors.

The farm tractors were given a steam bath last week. Live steam from a small boiler in the tool shed was used in the regular spring cleaning that was given the tractors in preparing them for field work.

The boiler is used primarily to heat water for butchering. The men decided that live steam from the boiler, applied at a safe pressure thru a rubber hose, would knock off the accumulation of grease and dirt better and easier than scrubbing the tractors with stiff brushes, dipped in gasoline.
